BOULANGER DEAD

The French Aerobatic Politician Kills Himself at His Lover's Grave in Belgium.

Dramatic in All Things He was Dramatic in His Taking Off.

As Great a Relief to the French as Balzac's Death to Chile.

BRUSSELS, Sept. 30.—Gen. Boulanger today committed suicide on the tomb of Mme. Bonnemain, his late mistress, who recently died in this city.

George Ernest Jean Marie Boulanger, French ex-minister of war, was born at Rennes in 1837. His descent on the maternal side is Welsh. In 1855 he entered the military college of St. Cyr and was made sub-lieutenant in 1857. He served under Marshal Kanael in the Kabyle campaign. He also took part in the Franco-Italian war and was wounded in the battle of Turbigo. Just before the war of 1870 he became major. He was with Basine at Metz. He was then promoted to a lieutenant and joined by the government of national defenses. He became minister of war in 1886. On the fall of the Goblet ministry he lost his place and was given command of an army corps, receiving a great ovation at Paris on his departure. His appearance in the chamber of deputies in July 1888, to demand a dissolution of the chamber, gave rise to a stormy scene and resulted in a duel between himself and Floquet, in which Boulanger received a deep wound in the throat. In 1889 he appeared a candidate at elections and was returned by large majorities. He was soon tried on charge of having while ministers appropriated public money for purposes of his own political propaganda and, when found guilty, died. Later he removed to Brussels.

Mme. de Bonnemain upon whose tomb he breathed his last, died July 16, after having accompanied Boulanger in all his later wanderings. She devoted an inherited fortune of $1,500,000 to the furtherance of his political fortunes.

Paris.—The news of Boulanger's death caused a tremendous sensation in Paris. The newspapers containing details of the suicide are unable to meet the demand for copies. Members of the patriotic league are already talking of demanding a public funeral in Paris. It is likely that they will try to make an issue with the government on this point.

Arrangements for Handling Gold. WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—The assay office in New York, in case of deposits of foreign gold, will advance to 99 per cent the value, pending melt and assay. This is to encourage the importation of foreign gold by allowing importers spot cash for foreign gold instead of requiring them to wait while the deposits are being melted and analyzed. Both the Bank of France and the Bank of Germany, in order to stimulate the shipment of gold from the United States, have been in the habit of crediting banking houses with the full value of the gold shipped to them at New York at the date of shipment.

Muzzling the Guatemalan Press. CITY OF MEXICO, Sept. 30.—The independent papers of the city of Guatemala continue their attacks upon the presidential candidates. They also severely criticize the government. The proprietors of a printing office were advised by Barrillas that if they should print any opposition to the establishment they would be thrown into prison and their property confiscated. To this an opposition paper says: "We will not say that this is not an attack upon the liberty of the press, nor much less on the advancement of industry."

Stock Killed in New York. NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—Early this morning at Fifteenth street on the New York Central railway a fast stock train ran into a local freight train, causing a wreck. The fireman of the fast stock train was killed and the engineer and one other man seriously injured. Half a dozen cattle-laden cars were knocked into kindling wood, mangling and slaying the animals. It is rumored that several other train hands have been injured.

Common Sense in Chile. VALPARAISO, Sept. 30.—It is not generally believed the evidence of ill-feeling toward Americans will be kept up. People whose opinion ought to have some weight say that they have no desire to get into any imbroglio with our government. The firm attitude of the United States will stop all further nonsense, especially if that firmness is backed by the presence of a few of the white squadrons in these waters.

Good For This Judge. UVALDE, Texas, Sept. 30.—District Judge Paschal created a sensation yesterday by refusing to naturalize R. N. Sauer, who made application. The applicant, upon being questioned by the court, stated that he was socialist. The judge declared that the principles of socialism were directly opposed to the legislation of the United States government and he would therefore refuse to make him an American citizen.

To Open Bardley's Lips. NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—A special to the Press from Philadelphia says it was learned on good authority that in connection with the attempt of Governor Pattison to force the auditor general and state treasurer out of office, a big scheme is on foot to get Bardley to turn states evidence and tell all he knows at the session called to try the two officials.

Put Up or Shut Up. ROME, Ga., Sept. 30.—The evangelists, Sam Jones and Sam Small, have been ordered to appear before the grand jury. They conducted a revival here some days ago and charged corruption so pointedly that the grand jury was compelled to ask them to make their charges in legal forms, prove their truth or shut up. Attachments have been issued for both. Small is in Massachusetts.

One Boulder Out. OTTAWA, Ont., Sept. 30.—Thomas McGreevy, member of parliament for Quebec west, is unanimously expelled from that body, having been found guilty of contempt.

CHICAGO'S HOT.

The Baseball Championship Practically Out of Its Grasp.

CHICAGO, Sept. 30.—The News this morning says: Until yesterday officers and friends of the Chicago club were slow to credit the suggestion that any of the league teams would be guilty of throwing away games—either by careless playing or by deliberately poor playing—to Boston in order to beat the Chicago out in the pennant race.

When asked if the Chicago club would permit such an exhibition as that which the New Yorks are making, to go uninvestigated, President Hart refuses to talk. There is no doubt, however, that the matter will be brought before the officers of the National league. Pitchers Rusie and Ewing are both in condition, yet neither of them has been put in any of the three games against Boston. On Monday Coughlin, a very poor excuse of a pitcher, went through the formula of pitching. Yesterday in the first game Welch, who had only pitched two or three games this season because he is notoriously out of condition, was allowed to pitch the pitching and Boston won with ridiculous ease. In spite of the fact that Clarkson pitched a poor game. In the second contest the New Yorks put in a pitcher who was picked up for the occasion, Sullivan, who had been endeavoring without success to hold a position in the National league. Northwestern semi-professional teams. Of course Boston had no trouble winning with him in the box.

He sold out as it is called, although it is believed to be a matter of spite and not monetary reward, was widely discussed among local pitchers and, at ball last night, and there was universal indignation over the manner in which Chicago is being cowered out of the championship.

President Hart: this noon has taken official action in the matter of the league pennant. He sent the following telegram to President Young: "Please ascertain if prior consent was given for double games in Boston on Sept. 29, with Pittsburgh Sept. 29 and Brooklyn Sept. 29 and today. If not properly granted, the Chicago club, in the name of fairness and to restore wavering confidence, demands that the games be declared void and be thrown out of the championship table and the decision made public at once. This is a most serious matter and demands your immediate attention."

A SERIOUS COLLISION.

Several Killed and Thirteen Injured on the Erie.

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—The third section of a westbound freight train on the Erie collided between Kent and Ravena, Ohio, this morning without an eastbound passenger train with members of the Olin family enroute to Bennington, Vt. for a reunion, killing the road foreman, W. H. Small, who was on the passenger car, and a most serious master and demands your immediate attention."

CRUISERS TO CHILE.

Three or Four United States Vessels Ordered to Be Ready.

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—It is learned at the navy yard that the Yorktown has been ordered to immediately proceed to Chilean waters. The Boston and Atlanta will follow the Yorktown as soon as they can be got ready.

The San Francisco has been ordered to remain at Punta Arenas and await the arrival of the United States fleet, and it will require about 15 days for her to reach Chile. She will sail through the straits of Magellan and up the coast to Valparaiso. The Baltimore will remain at Valparaiso.

Pennington's Air Ship Sails. ST. LOUIS, Sept. 30.—Pennington's air ship, so much talked of in Chicago a few months ago and which was under a tent at the fair grounds in readiness for trial to be made Saturday when it was to be put in progress, was caught up by the storm which passed over the city yesterday afternoon and blown away. As no trace of the ship has been found, it seems probable that it was destroyed. The trial has been abandoned. The ship cost $200,000.

Three Months' Failures.

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—The business failures of the United States for the quarter ending Sept. 30, are in number 2751 against 2167 for the same quarter of 1890. The liabilities of the 1891 quarter amount to $44,000,000, as compared with $35,300,000 in 1890. In the nine months of the year 1891 just closed the failures in the United States were 8285 with liabilities of $136,000,000 as compared with 7851 and $100,000,000 for the same period of 1890.

Too Many Omaha and Denver Bonds. GASTRO, Sept. 30.—Y. Vener, a Co. failed today. The house was unable to obtain money on maturing notes or have them renewed. No creditor will lose a dollar. The house was engaged in placing investment bonds. Mr. Vener is the leading director in the American Water Works company, capital $100,000,000, bonded debt, $1,000,000 for water works at Omaha and $1,000,000 for Denver.

Forests Afire Elsewhere.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Sept. 30.—A terrible forest fire has been raging for several days on the "Georgetown divide" El Dorado county. The fire swept over almost the entire stretch of country between Georgetown and Salmon Falls, destroying farm houses, barns, fences, etc. Fully 40 families have lost all they possessed. The little mine freight of Pilot Hill is literally wiped out. The fire passed over a section of country 25 miles in length and 20 miles wide.

Space for the Foreigners.

CHICAGO, Sept. 30.—A total of 508,500 square feet of space in the World's fair buildings were formally assigned to the governments of England, Germany and Denmark. Of this amount England gets 265,000 feet, Germany 210,000 and Denmark 20,000 in the main building and 130,000 in addition for a dairy exhibit. This is the first space assigned to any prospective exhibitors.

Carried Off Their Wounded.

OMAHA, Neb., Sept. 30.—The Dixon county bank at Peonita was entered by five masked burglars last night, the watchman being overpowered. Their efforts to break into the vault were interrupted by a citizen and the robbers hurried to the railroad where they had a handcar in waiting and, amid a fusillade of bullets, escaped. One of the robbers was shot, but the others carried him away with them.

WITH ALL ABOARD.

An Unknown Schooner Founders Off Whitefish Point and All Her Crew Go Down.

The Storms at the East End of Lake Superior Were Fearfully Severe.

Loose Wreckage and Drift Abound, But No Sign of Vessel or Crew.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Sept. 30.—Specials from Whitefish Point this afternoon report a three-masted schooner foundered four miles above here.

The steamer K. W. Moore ran back to Whitefish Point Tuesday morning, having shifted part of her cargo in the gale Monday night. When off Vermilion Point the captain states he saw a three-masted schooner about eight miles ahead towards Whitefish, carrying a part of her foresail. Not liking the way the schooner acted, he went down to his engineer and told him to hurry the steamer up, as there was, he thought, a schooner in distress ahead. He had not been more than 15 minutes. When he returned the forecastle deck nothing could be seen of the schooner. The watch on deck kept a good lookout all the way to Whitefish Point, but could see nothing of the wreck.

The vessel passed up Whitefish Point at 2 Monday afternoon, and no doubt now lies at the bottom of Lake Superior with all her crew. Her name could not be ascertained. The steam barge Alcona and her consort ran in around Whitefish Point for shelter at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning. Her consort, the Alta, had her topmast and foremast carried away in the gale. The tug Bertha Endress, which was reported foundered, is safe in Batchawana bay. The steam barge Isosco arrived down this morning and reports passing some wreckage off Manitowish Island.

THE E. C. POPE SOLD.

The Lakes' Greatest Carrier is Sold for $225,000.

The steel steamer E. C. Pope, which carried 126,000 bushels of corn out of Chicago a few days ago and is now taking on the biggest load of wheat ever loaded at a Duluth elevator has been sold by the Dry Dock Navigation company of Detroit to Eddy Bros. of Bay City. The price, although not exactly known, is said to be in the neighborhood of $225,000.

Marine Notes.

The E. B. Hall, cleared from Two Harbors yesterday with 1293 tons of Minnesota ore and the Quail with 1186 of Chandler. The Mesaba has arrived in port.

The Buffalo wheat rate out of Duluth is still at 3 1/2 cents. Three charters were reported yesterday on this basis.

The old Ward line boats are now taking only flour out of Duluth.

In Danger on the Lakes.

CHEBOYGAN, Mich., Sept. 30.—A heavy southwest gale has been blowing since Monday night, and much anxiety is felt about the stranded steamer Omaha on Grays reef, with part of the crew on board. It is in bad shape, being exposed to the full force of the storm. The Sackem, of Gulf Island, is also badly exposed. The tug Favorite has gone to its rescue. The Leviathan is on its way to the Omaha.

Three Ships Wrecked.

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—Sixty-seven shipwrecked sailors arrived in this port this morning. There are six vessels of the British ship California, the British ship Falls of Earn and the British schooner Little Wonder. They bring news that their vessels were wrecked at sea.

GAS GOING OUT.

Not in Boonies but in Pennsylvania's Natural Gas Region.

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 30.—Andrew Carnegie and George Westinghouse, Pittsburgh's two most widely-known millionaires, have gone gunning for each other. The trouble is over a gas bill of $580,000 which Westinghouse's company claims Carnegie's firm owes it. Carnegie's people say they don't owe a cent, but declare the Westinghouse people owe them thousands of dollars for breach of contract. Carnegie, Phipps & Co. have obtained an injunction against the Philadelphia Natural Gas company, Mr. Westinghouse's concern, restraining it from turning off the gas at four of Carnegie's plants, and asking damages for the failure to keep up the supply.

Mr. Westinghouse comes back with a suit for unpaid gas bills for $580,000. The result of this fight will be to force the gas company to demonstrate that the natural gas supply is really becoming exhausted, and to prove that it has not been cutting off iron mills merely for the purpose of serving only private consumers at the gilt-edge rates which natural gas hereabouts is now getting.

Serious Strife in Savannah.

SAVANNAH, Ga., Sept. 30.—The strike of wharf hands has demoralized commerce. The strikers are raising large accessions to their ranks and today all the men at the cotton presses, all the draymen and hundreds of other negro workmen along the wharves will go out. The loss inflicted on the cotton, naval stores and shipping interests threatens to be enormous. A refusal of a demand of increased pay caused the strike.

The Day's Fires.

Danbury, Conn.—Anderson & Co.'s grain elevator was burned. Loss, $20,000.

St. Louis—John Rings ice factory on Hawk avenue was totally destroyed by fire this morning. Patrick Sheehan, the owner, was going through the building with an oil lamp when it exploded. Loss, $20,000; insurance small.

CALLING DOWN STREET.

He Attempts to Interfere in the Customs Business.

Deputy Customs Collector Street, of West Superior, is in danger of getting himself into more trouble with the department. It is only a short time since he was called down by the treasury for being too frisky with figures in order to boom Superior, and he was so broken up over the rebuke that he tendered his resignation. Since the big wheat movement has begun he has made himself very obnoxious by telling vesselmen what they must and must not do. He has repeatedly taken away from them Duluth clearance papers for Buffalo, and on one occasion Duluth clearances for foreign ports. He has no right to take papers intended for use at another port, as the department allows boats arriving at the head of the lakes to take out papers at only one port, although taking on cargo at both ports.

NO TROUBLE WITH CARS.

Plenty of Them to Handle the Quickly Dispatched Business.

"Is there much danger of a car famine this year?" said a Herald man to General Agent Farrington of the Great Northern. "I don't think so. You see we are handling everything with much greater dispatch at terminal points this year than ever before. The Lake Superior Car Service association has proved a great aid. Then, too, we have improved our arrangements at terminal points. Why most of the cars are received, unloaded and started back toward the country in the same day. Besides, we have more and larger cars than ever. "The farmers are kicking and they always will kick. But they are not kicking as much as in previous years."

A SOUND SLEEPER.

He Gets More Than Double Sleep for Single Rates.

John Brinart, an Austrian, of Tower, a fellow-countryman about 25 years old and put him in the hands of the sheriff. He says that Nimonitch came to him from Joliet, Ill., on Friday, the 18th inst., and obtained lodging.

He knew nothing of the stranger. A couple of days later he noticed that the man acted peculiarly, reading his prayer book all the time. Finally last Wednesday Nimonitch fell into a sort of trance and has not opened his eyes or mouth since. Last Sunday a tube was forced into his mouth and he was given water through it. A Herald man visited Nimonitch in the jail. He lies on his back and to all appearances is asleep, but no amount of shaking arouses him. He breathes regularly, has an excellent temperature and a normal pulse and shows no sign of having gone without food for a whole week. Physicians will examine him.

TRAIN ROBBED IN NEW YORK.

Thieves get the Express From a New York-Chicago Express.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Sept. 30.—A train robbery with nearly all the thrilling features that accompany such events in the wild West took place this morning on a Central Hudson train between Albany and Little Falls. It happened at 1 o'clock on a solid express of six cars which left New York at 8:30 o'clock last night bound for Chicago.

At the hour named B. A. Moore, of the express company, suddenly realized the fact that a stranger stood over him with two revolvers and demanded the surrender of his revolver and the key of the safe. Moore was taken wholly by surprise and gave up the key. The robber took but the money and jumped off the train.

As soon as possible Moore made known what had taken place. The train arrived in this city only a few minutes behind its regular time. The robber got $1000.

The Small Packers.

CHICAGO, Sept. 30.—Rumor to the effect that the Stickney tract had been purchased and partly paid by the Chicago National Stock Yards company is confirmed in an interview with Levi May, counsel for the company. The stock is taken exclusively by the 13 packers outside of Armour, Swift and Morris, while Stickney holds the bonds.

Missouri Pacific's Action.

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—The Missouri Pacific today formally decided to suspend dividend payments. A statement was given out showing that in the nine months just passed the road earned $670,678 less than fixed charges. It paid two dividends and so far this year had a deficit of $1,619,273.

Parliament Prorogued.

OTTAWA, Ont., Sept. 30.—The first session of the seventh parliament of the Dominion was prorogued at 3 o'clock this afternoon by the governor general, Lord Stanley.

IN A NUTSHELL.

Washington—Last night the treasury had redeemed $17,876,350 of 4 1/2% and continued $25,222,650, leaving undisposed about $8,000,000. Today is the last day in which these bonds can be presented and not more than a few hundred thousand dollars have been presented so far.

Chicago—The banquet tendered by citizens to the European envoys to the exposition last night was one of the most magnificent ever given. The Palmer house banquet hall was gorgeously decorated with ferns, palms and potted flowers, while the walls were draped with the flags of the various countries represented. At the east side of the banquet room was a magnificent floral piece constructed in the shape of a globe and about five feet in diameter. The ground work of the globe was built of evergreen and smilax and then indifferent colored flowers were traced the outline of the different continents. These were reflected out in beautiful colors and the geographical outlines were traced in flowers of various colors.

Philadelphia—A resident of Buckhorn, John Appleman by name, brought two "gold bricks" to the mint for sale. He paid $3500 for them, believing them worth $5000.

Rome—The strain of the public functions has seriously increased the feebleness of the pope and his condition causes alarm.

Wanted—A few small mortgage notes at once. 14 Exchange building.

The Weather.

U. S. WEATHER BUREAU, DULUTH, MINN., Sept. 30, 1891.—10 a. m.—A storm of considerable energy is falling over Wyoming, having been in the air since late afternoon of yesterday. Rain is falling at Medicine Hat and snow at Ft. Assiniboine. The temperature has risen north of Minnesota, standing at 62 at Winnipeg and 68 at Fort Arthur, has fallen slightly in the extreme northwest and remains nearly stationary elsewhere. The warmest place is 68 at Fort Arthur, the coldest at 54 at Fort Union and Ft. Assiniboine. No rain of any consequence is reported.

For this section it is probable that fair weather will prevail today, followed by rain and slightly warmer followed by colder.

The highest temperature here yesterday was 56, lowest last night 45.

DELUH, Sept. 30.—Local forecast for Duluth and vicinity for twenty-four hours ending at 8 a. m., Oct. 1, Fair, followed by rain; warmer, followed by colder.

II. H. BLOSSOM, Observer.

Minnesota: Local showers except in extreme southern portion; fair weather; cooler on Thursday; southerly winds shifting to westerly.

Dakota: Local rains; generally cooler; winds shifting to northerly.

GOLDEN TEXT.

A city that had 2600 population in 1880 and 40,000 in 1890 is like an inspiration. Duluth will have 100,000 population in five years and there is still access to the ground floor.

THE MAJORITY.

Already there is much conjecture as to who will be the next chief executive of Duluth. Mayor Davis says he isn't in the arena any more, as his private affairs demand his attention, but there are others who will gladly put on the harness, and their respective friends are grooming them for the occasion. The political parties are also eager to gain whatever advantage the control of the city would afford, and thus it seems likely we shall find them arrayed one against the other in the next February campaign.

But what has the public to gain by a partisan victory, for after all it is the public and not a party that foots the bills? Some say it makes the party responsible for blunders and bad government. True enough, but we have never known a case where the party paid the losses. It may go out of power and give the other crowd a chance to make blunders, but that is no gain to the taxpayer. What does it matter to the Philadelphian public that a political party suffers because of official robberies committed there? It brings no rebate, no surcease of sorrow. What we desire is to avoid the blunders and thereby relieve the public, the real surety in the case, of a responsibility that affects its social and financial standing.

And what has a political party to gain in the matter? It assumes a responsibility where no party principles are involved, and as a result usually weakens its cause in the broader field of politics. The democrats of Minnesota lost a governor because the democrats of St. Paul preferred the local loaves and fishes. The republicans of Pennsylvania lost a governor because they were responsible for bossism and rottenness in Philadelphia. The democrats lost the presidency because Gotham democrats preferred their city to their country, and so the illustrations might be continued. If our municipal affairs are run into party politics, the result will be, as the city rapidly develops, a tendency to trade off the earth to keep control of Duluth. Many of the local offices will be faster than state offices, and the city patronage in many ways will be very extensive. Politics would thus abandon the grounds of contention between the parties and degenerate into a scramble for place and plunder.

Municipal government is the most serious problem that confronts the American people, and its solution will not be expedited by injecting into it a bitter partisan rivalry. Our federal constitution is so perfect that the general government runs itself, but no similar condition exists as to cities, and no one knows what changes will be made in the coming years. As to Duluth in particular, a magnificent future is awaiting her, and a great opportunity presents itself for an able and broad gauge government. Questions of the gravest import are presented to us now, and we say they must have a democratic or republican solution is to narrow and belittle the interest of Duluth. This or that politician of either party may desire distinction, but personal ambition should not stand in the way of the public good. Political leaders may think it necessary to make a party campaign in order to keep up an organization, but a non-partisan contest is as fair to one as the other, while the county campaigns can be made to serve that end. What we desire most of all is to build a city, not a political party, and the closer our municipal affairs can be kept to business principles the better it will be for every citizen, regardless of political affiliations, the size of his bank account, or the condition of his servitude. And when we elect a mayor next February let us consider rather his business and executive fitness, than the question whether he swears by St. Jackson or some other saint.

SECURITY FOR BANK CIRCULATION.
Hon. M. D. Harter, the Ohio financier and economist, who is a member of the Fifty-second Congress, presents through the October Forum his well-matured plan for a national and state bank circulation secured by state, county, city and railroad bonds. Many securities are thrown around the system. The bonds available as security must have been listed for at least five years upon some stock exchange in a city of not less than 500,000 population. State bonds must not represent a per capita debt of over $2, county bonds over $1, nor city bonds over $5. No bond will be accepted which has ever been in default for non-payment of interest, or that has sold at less than a premium of five per cent above par within three years. When any bond so accepted shall for a period of thirty days sell on any stock exchange at an average price of less than 105, the comptroller shall require it to be replaced with other bonds. Banks shall pay a semi-annual tax of one per cent on their circulation, which it is thought would cause elasticity of the currency by increasing the volume of the circulation when there was a demand for money and withdrawing it when little was needed. This in brief is the plan which Mr. Harter has perfected in years of study upon the subject and will present to the congress next winter. It has met the approval of many eminent men to whom it has been submitted, and in the necessity of a change by the liquidation of our national debt is likely to receive a candid consideration. The plan is but a modification of the present national banking system, many important features of which are retained.

THE ATTACKS ON CAMPBELL.

It looks very much as if the Cincinnati Commercial Gazette's attacks on Governor Campbell because of a $3000 note that went to protest in a Shylock office in Columbus last week and was paid the next day, would prove a boomerang to his assailants. It is remembered that the Gazette endeavored to blacken his name with the ballot box forgery in the campaign two years ago, and this repetition of a personal campaign is deplored by the national leaders of the party who have urged that for the sake of the republican cause it be stopped. Governor Campbell who was charged with wild speculation has made a statement that he has investments in large enterprises that have made him short of cash, but that he hasn't owned a dollar's worth of speculative stock in the last eleven years. His recent illness also caused some neglect of his business affairs. This cleans up his side of the case in all its most important aspects, while on the other hand it is charged that certain men in his own party in cahoots with the opposition entered into a conspiracy to do him up and prevent his renomination. Failing in that through an exposure of their plans, they undertook to ruin his financial standing, and the protest of the note in question was a part of the scheme. But such tactics don't pay in the end, and their adoption may bring Governor Campbell several thousand votes from the poorer classes through out the state who have no particular love for the money power. It is only just to say that McKinley wouldn't stoop to such dirt.

The wily wrecker, Jayson Gould, is apparently pushed by the allied forces of his enemies and may yet meet his Waterloo. His career has been a magic one for a country boy, and he will pass into history as the wizard of Wall street. But he has remorselessly crushed better men than himself, and should his own turn at financial embarrassment come there will be no particular mourning except for those he may drag down with him. However, he is cunning and may elude his pursuers only to break them in the end.

Suicide is becoming popular with statesmen. Not able to attain greatness in life our friend, George Ernest Jean Marie Boulanger, has gained immortality in death. He took his own life today on the grave of his late mistress, Mme. Bonnemain, in Brussels. He was once French minister of war, later an unsuccessful candidate for the presidency, was born in 1837, and was old enough to know better. In our language he would be plain George Baker. Good by George. Vive la republique.

The unanimous renomination yesterday of Gov. Wm. E. Russell, of Massachusetts, by the Bay State democrats was a mere matter of form, his popular administration and large personal following making him the strongest candidate his party could present. The campaign will be a lively one on national issues, and the McKinley bill will receive more attention than it is getting in Ohio, the silver question being a mere incident of the contest.

Our friend Editor Bernard, of the Grand Rapids Magnet took unto himself a wife last week from the social circles of that town, and is even more confident than ever of the future of tascas capital. We send kindly greetings to the Knight of Pokegama.

AS Austin, Minn., was the mother of an animal that appears to be half calf and half chub, so that a Chicago paper suggests it might be so apt to start a herd of trade at Superior.

THE plate is not torn plate, shouts an Ohio paper. And then another sheet takes a turn at it till the everyday citizen can't tell whether he's a tinner or a tinner.

When Boulanger and Bismarck in the brighter realm, there may be another war in heaven. But who could write for another Paradise Lost.

The Rock river conference in Illinois has pronounced against free-lance vagabonds. They want no untrained voice in the wilderness.

BECHANAN'S old homestead has been turned into a cemetery. Now let his spirit rest and the dead just bury his dead.

WOMEN are doing more for the world than anybody else we know. And most of the world troubles lie on their rack.

MAIDS OF HIGH DEGREE.

Night before last a wee maiden of royal lineage was born in Lakeside. In reality she is Lady May, Belle Sweeney, but she will be known to her democratic acquaintances as plain May for many years. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Sweeney, Jr., and granddaughter of Dr. R. O. Sweeney, superintendent of the government fish hatchery. Her grandfather, who is highly esteemed by all who know him for his genial qualities and his researches for historical and scientific facts, is the proudest man in the county. She is also the granddaughter of Major James B. Quinn, formerly of this city, but now in charge of the harbor improvements on the Gulf coast.

The doctor hasn't an equal hereabouts for love of folk lore, especially that relating to the Gaelic peoples of Europe. He is well versed in the peculiarities of the languages of the same people. In speaking of his little granddaughter, he said that she is the 15th generation of the Sweeney family, every generation of 1200 when the green island was being among a number of petty kings who were amenable to one sovereign king. The Sweeney family sprang from the O'Neils, whose genealogy antedates the Christian era. Hugh Antrachan O'Neil is recognized as the founder of the Sweeney line. He was the grandson of Slinib (pronounced Sweeney) O'Neil, and was one of the petty kings who held away over a portion of Ireland by reason of his relationship to King Brian Borohime (pronounced Borow—accent on last syllable). In accordance with a request of his grandfather, the descendant should assume a family name, in order to avoid the trouble that arose from designating a man as "the son of — the son of — the son of —," as in the Hebrew and other genealogies, Hugh Antrachan O'Neil dropped the O'Neil and assumed his grandfather's name Slinib Sweeney, for his surname, prefixing the "Mac" which means "son of." As Hugh Antrachan MacSweeney was an Irish king, it follows that Dr. Sweeney is a king in disguise and his son a prince. Blood tells every time and although there are probably not two persons in the city who have known anything about the doctor's lineage everybody has long looked upon him as a royal good fellow. Long life to the new branch on the Sweeney family tree.

The two little children of a local newspaper man can trace their ancestry to some time in the 17th century, when they were among the Norman barons who came in with William the Conqueror. Their genealogy descends directly through the earls of Warwick and the youngsters' forefathers came to America in the Mayflower.

"Deserving Poor."

(George Horton, in the Century for October.)
Dives and I on crowded street
An aged beggar clanked to meet;
Dives with bow and stately air,
And said, to argue conscience down:
"I treat all with equal courtesy,
How can one know when they're deserving?"
"You're right," I cried, with nodding head
(I toll for Dives for my bread);
But since the mind is weak and old,
And earthly fetters hold in scorn,
I thought, "That wretch must have many more Starve through those words, 'Deserving poor.'"
And then, because I hardly knew
How Dives rich and I how poor,
(I sneered in thought), "Such careful alms,
Such nice, discriminating souls,
Should be observed in rule unwavering
But by the rich who are deserving."

Haverly Minstrels.

The appearance here of the famous Jack Haverly and his minstrel troupe is looked upon with a great deal of interest by his many friends in this city, and from notices in the newspapers throughout the country one would say he has in Emerson's minstrel the best show he has ever had. It will take us back a good many years, and bring a good many pleasant recollections to see J. H. Haverly head the minstrel parade once more.

WEST DULUTH.

West Duluth office of The Herald, room 11, 5th wing building, where announcements etc., may be left.

Born—To Mr. and Mrs. J. Longtin yesterday, a son.

The next meeting of the W. C. T. U. of Onondaga and Hazelwood will be held at the Onondaga church at 2:30 tomorrow. The Local Legion will also meet at the close of the public school.

Martin Gilbertson was up before his honor yesterday and paid $17 for not closing his saloon at 11 o'clock Saturday evening. Mr. Gilbertson claims that he closed his doors promptly at that time, but as he is proprietor of the Exchange theater, he allowed the performers to enter the saloon while he waited them off.

Last night the night crew at the Marine works quit work and it looks very much like a strike. One of the workmen was asked to run two machines, which he refused to do, and was discharged, whereupon the rest of the force laid down their tools and walked out.

The matter will probably be amicably settled today.

The police investigating committee from the council was in session yesterday afternoon in Judge Heinbaugh's office and a large number of witnesses and several policemen were required to give their testimony. The investigation is a secret one and will be continued today. Just what the outcome will be is difficult to foretell, but the chief's many friends are certain it will be a complete vindication of his actions.

Joseph Baker, a workman at the car works, was badly injured this morning by a flying piece of steam pipe. The steam had just been turned on when the pipe exploded and a fragment of it hit him on the head, taking off a piece of his scalp as large as a silver dollar and it is feared fracturing his skull. Doctors Hutton and Forin dressed the wounds and the injured man is resting easily.

In Full Operation.
At the car works yesterday every department was in operation and the scene was a busy one. The rolling mill and Jack Haverly were started up in the morning, giving employment to 50 additional men, and the scene is one of activity. The force now at work numbers about 300, and this figure will probably be doubled by December. The starting of the car works and the blast furnace will inject life into the south end of the city and will be of great benefit to the place at large.

SUPER FOR BERNHARDT

A Herald Man, Behind the Scenes, Gets Some Insight Into the Character of the Famous Actress.

The Constant Service Demanded by and Paid to Her by All Members of Her Company.

Sarah Shows Her Temper to the Manager and a Blundering Sape and Hurts Her Leg.

It is something out of the ordinary run of every-day life to be even a "super" for the famous Sarah Bernhardt, and as the audience as a whole have so little idea of what is going on behind the scenes, especially when the language spoken is wholly French, a few pointers about the novelty of the position of a "super" will not be amiss, especially as a Herald man, with eyes and ears open, was one of the courtiers who stood about last evening on the stage of Temple Opera.

At the door of the theater and many more expectant supers than were needed, but the beautiful shape and the French appearance and complexion of The Herald man won him a place at once. After the successful dozen emceed the theater, and after very much chattering among the members of the company about which the supers, scoring French lingo, knew nothing, all were assigned to positions and put through rehearsal by the assistant stage manager. None knew any more about it when they were done than when they started. They all were about to dress in the dressing room where antique court dresses were arranged in a neat row, and each super soon succeeded in struggling into a suit. It creates a queer sensation to be suddenly transformed from a common American youth into a full-fledged French lord of the old school, with powdered wig, knee breeches, silk coats and the like.

As there was no demand for the histrionic talents of the new men until the second act, all had ample time to take in the surroundings. A few moments after the curtain was pulled back, the French style by the way—Mme. Bernhardt emerged from her dressing room accompanied by two obsequious attendants and took her place at the door from which she was to make her appearance on the stage. As she stood every man of the company who was anywhere in sight began bowing and scraping like a rubber tube. She herself while waiting laughed and chatted with her attendants and seemed to be in excellent spirits. The act over the attendants rushed in and escorted her to her rooms, while all the rest of the company stood around with kinks in their backs.

In the scene at the end of the third act the Bernhardt in some way hurt her knee creating great commotion, and she was literally carried from the stage by nearly the entire company, all being in showy politeness. As she was passing between the scenes one unfortunate super stepped on her train, when one of the watchful Frenchmen shook his fist in his face and made some remarks in French which the super didn't want to see carried into effect. At the end of the first act the super himself went to his room and got himself into the hole by dropping the curtain too soon, and he received the benefit of Mme. Bernhardt's tongue for his pains. But the climax was reached in the leap into the Tiber at the finale. A bedtick, nicely arranged with a blue silk covering, was placed behind the canvas for her to fall on. Her attendants were also waiting with outstretched arms to receive her, and she was passing from the stage amid the congratulations of her company showered at her in the same set of phrases used, probably, nightly.

When the performance was over, the rush for the supers' salaries, and the Bernhardt manager was not in the same class with the Duluth boys. Twenty-five cents each was to be paid, but some were paid three and four times while others were not paid at all.

The company left at 1 o'clock this morning for St. Paul and Minneapolis, playing there till the close of the week. It is rumored.

A FAKIE'S REPORT.

Capt. Jack St. John Down on People of Town and Elbow.

Capt. Jack Crawford, who has been about Duluth all summer looking up liquor selling to Indians, has just left for the East. Yesterday he talked as follows about town: "There is a saloon element up there which runs the town and does just about as it likes. Liquor is freely sold to Indians, and not a day passes but what from ten to twenty bucks are dumped upon the reservation in a drunken condition. I was in a tepee last week and saw a squaw who was slowly starving to death. Over a dozen families on the reservation are in a lamentable desolate condition, because of the liquor furnished to the bucks. It is shameful."

"I rounded up about 20 of those engaged in the traffic and secured sufficient evidence, I think, to convict them. One is Mrs. McCarthy, an old offender. Another is Tenie Olson, a Swede girl. The Scandinavians, in fact, are very troublesome in that regard. They hold their picnics on the reservation and drink their beer there. On one occasion they were surprised by the Indian police, who took possession of the beer and spilled it. The situation calls for federal action. The people, of course, are red hot. Over at Ely, they wanted to shoot me and do a few other things, but I had the support of the better class."

NEWS TO DULUTHIANS.

A Washington Fable That Will Make People Smile Broadly.

The Washington Post last night printed the following yarn about the late John D. Howard:

Mr. Howard, as a pioneer state senator and millionaire lumber merchant, wielded a powerful influence in political circles and his name was prominently mentioned as the possible successor to Senator Chapman K. Davis in the United States senate. His son, J. C. Howard, a student in the college of dead men in this city, was notified of his father's death last Saturday and he is heir to $1,000,000 out of a fortune of $2,000,000.

But details of which we not yet arrived at are that the late John D. Howard, who was a very rich man, died at the age of 70.

A CARGO OF SWEETS.

Eight Hundred Tons of Sugar at Duluth Today in One Cargo.

The China has just unloaded the largest consignment of sugar ever brought to Duluth. The sugar took up the greater part of the vessel's hold and weighed 800 tons. As a car load is put at 10 tons, it can readily be seen that the consignment would fill 80 cars. The sugar was consigned to Duluth and Twin City jobbers.

Said an officer of the vessel: "The great bulk of the sugar is now handled in sacks. Last year barrels predominated. The sacks are much more satisfactory, inasmuch as there is great loss through the breakage of barrels. A barrel of sugar weighs 35 pounds and the heads are consequently easily broken. The handling of sugar is now going through the same experiments as the handling of flour did a few years ago. Ten years ago flour was put up in barrels almost exclusively. But year by year that intended for export was put up in sacks in increasing quantities."

EXCITING, INDEED!

Nip and Tuck Between the Leaders.

Chances Favor Boston.

The contest between New York and Boston is a most exciting one and bids fair to be kept up for the next few days, at the end of which time the season will close. The fact that Boston has won every game on the home grounds, the past days has caused the Chicago enthusiasts to charge that the teams which have been playing with Boston are selling out in order to defeat Anson, for whom they have a great dislike. Boston has now won one more game than Chicago and is only one point behind the latter. Boston has seven games to play, of which three are postponed, while Chicago has nine and the Philadelphia in 13 out of 18. She has one game to play with Cleveland, and two with Cincinnati. To these teams she has lost only three, six and eight games respectively. Boston plays with her weakest opponents—two games with New York, to whom she has lost five; four with Philadelphia, to whom she has lost six, and the rest with the nine and Boston all of the seven the two clubs will be tied. It would be remarkable if Boston should win both the League and Association pennants.

O'BRIEN'S LETTER.

A Boston Salesman Gives Vent to His Feelings.

HIS FUTURE WAS DARK, MISERABLE AND HOPELESS.

Now He is "Jumping Around Like a Colt." And So Are His Friends.

The following letter is self-explanatory, says the Boston Globe:

It is especially pertinent at this time, when there are so many cases of rheumatism. The writer, Mr. C. J. O'Brien, of the National Supply Company, 45 Temple Place, is well known to clothing men in Boston, continues the Globe, and his statements have been thoroughly investigated. They are vouched for by his friends, and the physicians who attended him. Here is what he wrote to the Globe on Sept. 15, 1891:

"Three years ago I was a terrible sufferer from acute and chronic rheumatism. My agony was something similar to that described by Dante of the damned in his Inferno, so that my future looked dark, miserable and hopeless. I had tried the allopathic and homeopathic schools of medicine until I was almost dosed and watered to death. I then experimented with electricity and many other 'cures' until I became a creeping laboratory of medicine, electricity and Indian herbs."

"My attention was called to a discovery that had created considerable stir around Boston, and I decided to try it. One bottle gave me a slight feeling of relief and I bought three more. Before the fourth bottle was quite finished, I was jumping around like a two-year-old colt."

"I am now entirely cured, and have also been the means of curing from fifteen to twenty other cases of rheumatism, by suffering like myself. One of my friends, Jack W., went to Ireland thinking a change of climate might benefit him, but he received no relief. I sent him three bottles, and he wrote me that before he got through with the third bottle he experienced great relief. At his request I forwarded him a dozen bottles, and I heard from him a short time ago, saying that he was now entirely cured."

"This discovery that has done so much for me and my friends is Paine's celery compound, and if any reader of this has rheumatism or anything of the sort, he should not fail to use this compound."

WORLD OF COMMERCE.

The Demand for Cash Wheat Continues Exceedingly Active But the Market is Quiet.

Bradtrees' Increase and the Latest Alliance Circular Are Opposing Factors in Influencing the Prices.

Notes on the Board of Trade Today: The Close at Duluth and Elsewhere: Inspection.

Wheat started in higher this morning, but the strength gradually petered out. At the opening there was good buying of cash, Sawyer taking the largest amount, while Thomson was also in the market for fair quantities, and prices were run up $\frac{1}{2}$ to $\frac{3}{4}$ above last night's and $\frac{1}{4}$ to $\frac{1}{2}$ above the opening. After this demand for cash was mostly satisfied, the market eased off and became very dull. Values went back to opening figures. About 12:30 20,000 bu. sold at $\frac{1}{4}$ which was $\frac{1}{4}$ over the opening. At Chicago there was some short covering and this with the smaller sales by farmers in the Northwest were the principal causes of the advance outside the cash demand for cash stuff.

Liverpool was unchanged though firm, and Berlin and Antwerp weak. New York was the weakest market in this country. There was an absence of buying orders there from the outside, while foreigners were free sellers. Exports for the day were very small. Bradstreet's reported the increase in wheat from both coasts at 2,250,000 bu. This was one of the week's features. At the close prices were $\frac{1}{4}$ to $\frac{1}{2}$ below the opening, but fairly firm.

Cash No. 1 hard opened with a good demand, $\frac{1}{4}$ up at $\frac{1}{4}$, above last night's and then back to $\frac{1}{4}$. Later it recovered $\frac{1}{4}$, declined and closed at $\frac{1}{4}$. No. 1 northern opened to $\frac{1}{4}$ up at $\frac{1}{4}$, sold at that in good quantities, dropped off $\frac{1}{4}$ and closed at $\frac{1}{4}$. No. 2 northern opened at $\frac{1}{4}$, advanced $\frac{1}{4}$ on round lots, declined and closed at $\frac{1}{4}$. No. 3 sold at $\frac{1}{4}$ and rejected at $\frac{1}{4}$.

September No. 1 hard did not sell. It closed at $\frac{1}{4}$ sellers. No. 1 northern opened at $\frac{1}{4}$, advanced $\frac{1}{4}$, declined $\frac{1}{4}$ and closed at $\frac{1}{4}$ nominal.

October No. 1 hard closed without sales at $\frac{1}{4}$ sellers. No. 1 northern opened $\frac{1}{4}$ up, first sold at $\frac{1}{4}$, then back to $\frac{1}{4}$, lost $\frac{1}{4}$ more and closed at $\frac{1}{4}$. December No. 1 northern opened at $\frac{1}{4}$, closed at $\frac{1}{4}$. No. 1 northern was dull. It opened at $\frac{1}{4}$ and closed at $\frac{1}{4}$. May No. 1 northern was not in demand. It closed at $\frac{1}{4}$.

TROOPS DO MARCH.

Ten Thousand Malecontents Reported Marching on Barillas at the City of Guatemala.

A Revolution Which, it is Claimed, Has Been Inspired From New York.

The Bureau of Republics Denies All the Stories Sent Out so Far.

NEXTON, Guatemala, Oct. 1.—News of the most sensational nature has been received here. It is stated direct from the City of Guatemala that the army of 10,000 men, receiving constant accessions from the country through which it is marching, is approaching the capital in the direction of Quetzaltenango. Nothing more is known, as the wires are in the hands of the government.

The capital is under martial law and the streets are patrolled night and day by mounted police. Troops have been dispatched from the city, it is said, for the purpose of intercepting the march of the revolutionists upon the capital. Great uneasiness has been occasioned by the report that Salvador is massing troops along the frontier of Guatemala and Honduras, but whether as a precautionary measure or for the purpose of invasion it cannot be ascertained. Antonio Ezeta, brother of President Ezeta, and who took a prominent part in the recent Salvador-Guatemala war, has returned from San Salvador, the capital, to Santa Ana, his headquarters, and the key to the frontier of Guatemala. Gen. Molino is reported to have gone to the departments of the East on Honduras. There is considerable excitement in San Salvador regarding the revolt in Guatemala.

A retired American officer, a resident of this city, and whose truthfulness is not to be doubted, recites the following story: Three Americans, with plenty of money, visited this city two months ago. They apparently had no object other than of pleasure. He was introduced, through their request, and the same day an interview followed. To him they disclosed the fact that they represented a revolutionary party in New York that had for its object the downfall of Barillas' government at Guatemala and were supplied with funds to carry the movement to a successful assurance issue, in effecting that the son of the ex-dictator of Guatemala, now resident in New York, was ambitious to become president and was furnishing money to bring about the desired result.

Their plan of action, as explained to the retired military man, was to send experienced military officers into Guatemala, 10 or 15 at a time. They were to arrive at the several points at intervals of the arrival of the various steamships in that country. They were to be met by emissaries of the revolutionary movement and distributed throughout the public and when the time was ripe were to take command of the revolutionary troops. A commission was given to the American officer of this city but he refused.

While not positively known, it is believed that several American officers were offered commissions but they refused to take any part in the movement. He believes that the present revolt is due to New York parties, who are furnishing funds and ammunition to the insurgents.

Denies the Guatemalan Difficulty.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—The United States government denies the sensational reports telegraphed from the City of Mexico concerning disturbances in Guatemala and elsewhere in Central America, and states that there is apparently an organized attempt upon the part of certain persons in Mexico to represent the political condition of the Central American republics.

SUSPENDED SPECIE.

A Forced Paper Currency to be Issued in the Argentine.

BUENOS AIRES, Oct. 1.—Gold is quoted at 130 per cent premium. The government has decreed a forced currency, fixing the gold premium at 150 per centum, and has suspended gold payments for two years. A new monetary unit has been adopted and a fixed amount of silver and nickel money is being coined. The legislative committee has reported favorably on the proposition to issue 1,500,000 paper dollars to establish a national Argentine bank.

Congress will remain in prolonged session in order to settle pending important affairs.

SELLING BIG MINES.

Silver Properties of Great Value Sell in Denver.

DENVER, Colo., Oct. 1.—The Grand Central mine at Kingston, N. M., was sold in this city last night to an English syndicate for $1,000,000 cash. It is a big low grade property running 15 to 20 ounces of silver per ton and 10 per cent lead.

The syndicate will build a 16-mile narrow gauge road from Lake Valley to the mine to handle the ore. Its old owner goes to London Saturday to dispose of mines located in the state of Durango, Mexico, the Avenio, which has produced $1,000,000 of silver and another which has produced $2,000,000. He will place each one at $4,000,000.

LAKE CITY, Minn., Oct. 1.—Morris Blowers, proprietor of the Blowers hotel at Corinth, N. Y., arrived here last night in search of his runaway wife. He found her in company with Ed Osborne, the two passing as man and wife. Blowers had them arrested and is trying to persuade his wife to pack with him, but she refuses.

KILLED AT MINNEAPOLIS.

Fellow Workmen Permit a Murder and Leave the Body Unburied For.
MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 1.—Howard Myrick, a 16-year-old boy employed as a helper in the Gillette Herzog foundry here, was yesterday murdered by C. G. Bergman, a workman there. Bergman accused Myrick of stealing his shovel. The lad denied and a war of words followed, in which Myrick called Bergman a liar. Bergman suddenly picked up a "gate stick" and threw it. His aim was unfortunately too good. The missile struck Myrick in the head. Myrick fell like a log. Bergman then kicked his body.

All of the employees in the foundry room are Scandinavians. They did not report the occurrence to anybody or pay much attention to the boy lying there unconscious. They seemed afraid that they would be implicated as accessories or they thought that the young fellow would soon come to. Anyway, there young Myrick lay from 3 o'clock in the afternoon until almost 5 o'clock, when he was taken home by some of the men. Bergman is under arrest. It is stated that he is the dead lad's no and body show that he was strangled and beaten to death, and his last words were, "I was kicked to death. Bergman did this and says death resulted from Myrick's head hitting a casting box as he fell.

"A BIENTOT."

Boulanger Joined at Last; Comments of the French People and Press.

PARIS, Oct. 1.—After the death of Madame Bonnemain, the late Gen. Boulanger's wife wrote to him, offering to forgive him and share his exile. Her letter remained unanswered. Late in August, after a violent paroxysm of grief, Boulanger laboriously carved on the tombstone of Mme. Bonnemain the words: "A bientot Marguerite." Thenceforth he was a changed man. He became emaciated and haggard almost beyond recognition. When his body was examined, after the suicide, a large photograph of Mme. Bonnemain was found under his clothing, next to the heart, stained with blood from the wound.

The suicide of Boulanger is distinctly recognized as a victory for the republicans and an acknowledgment of failure by the man who led the struggle for his overthrow. A Berlin dispatch says that while nothing is said that commits high officials to an expression on the subject, the news of the suicide was evidently not gratifying in government circles, it being looked upon as the appearance of a man who had not yet exhausted his ability to injure France. In St. Petersburg, on the other hand, the news was regarded as a French victory. It is believed that it will put an end to the Boulangerists as a separate and dangerous faction.

Madame Boulanger is residing at Versailles. On being informed of the tragic death of her husband at Brussels yesterday, Mme. Bonnemain, since then she has been in a state of deepest dejection, and is apparently overcome with grief.

The fact that the European bourses are unaffected by the death of Gen. Boulanger indicates how completely he had lost influence as a political leader. Debates say: "Perhaps he thought to be a Caesar or Napoleon, though he had none of their genius. His life ended in death, which, although also miserable, was dramatic. In all likelihood the suicide was prompted by a sense of futility. The death was like that of a hero of a novel and not like that of a heroic soldier."

In an interview with the Paris representative of the United Press today the chief in the war department expressed very much regret at the death of Boulanger on the subject of Boulanger's suicide and the proposition of the patriotic league to accord the dead general a public funeral in the streets of Paris. The chief said: "There is no Frenchman, of whatever party or faction, who does not honor the memory of Boulanger. His military services to France and for the wounds he received in her defense. It is, however, no new thing for Frenchmen to fight bravely or be wounded. There, however, with well wishers of the country, admiration for the personality of the man must stop. I have never failed to deplore the wretched role enacted by Boulanger from the moment he attempted to corrupt the voters, reorganize the chamber and prostitute the army, all that he might advance his vulgar fortunes at the expense of the safety of the republic. The patriotic league or its monarchial and imperialist allies will attempt any disturbance."

BECAME A FIEND.
Insane Jealousy led to a Terrible Struggle For Death.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Oct. 1.—William Wynkoop went rowing with his sweetheart, Maggie Carroll, last night. Some flippant remark of the young lady aroused his jealousy and so infuriated him that he threw the girl into the water. In doing so he was pitched out of the boat himself. A savage fight between the two followed in the water. Wynkoop trying to push Miss Carroll under, just as he was about succeeding a yacht, which had been attracted by the girls' cries, swooped down upon the struggling pair and pulled them both into their boat. The lady immediately lapsed into unconsciousness and her condition is critical. Wynkoop is in jail.

ANARCHISTIC BOMBS.

A Futile Effort Made to Kill the Austrian Emperor.

VIENNA, Oct. 1.—A profound sensation has been created by a dispatch from Reichenberg, Bohemia, which while announcing the safe arrival at that place of the Emperor Francis Joseph, also brings the startling news that during last night an attempt was made to blow up the bridge at Rosenthal, a suburb of Reichenberg, by means of a bomb. Fortunately the plot was discovered and the attempt was frustrated.

An Injured Fireman Dies.
MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 1.—Charles W. Mitchell, one of the firemen who were injured at the elevator fire a week ago, died this morning. Others doing well.

A PATH OF FLAME.

Fires Sweep a Road 300 Miles Long in the Cattle Ranges of Montana.

Very Great Suffering Must Ensnare and Many Deaths Have Probably Resulted.

Flames Set by Cattle Bone Pickers Who Will Have a Ghastly Harvest.

ELLENDALE, N. D., Oct. 1.—N. L. Shortman, who has just arrived here from Fort Yates on the Missouri river, brings the news of an immense prairie fire west of the Missouri.

He says that a scope of country 300 miles long and 200 miles wide has been burned over, destroying farm houses, stock ranches, many herds of horses and cattle and numerous quantities of hay. The fire is said to have been started by a bone picker who found his calling unremunerative owing to the heavy growth of grass this season and wanted to get the grass out of the way. Seeing what an awful calamity he had been the author of he fled at once, realising how little his life would be worth if captured by the enraged ranchmen.

The whole region is described as a place of death and desolation. Many persons are believed to have perished in the flames.

Burned in His Cabin.

BUTTE, Mont., Oct. 1.—About 12 miles out on the Pipestone road yesterday, the cabin of Lewis Harding was discovered burned to the ground and in the ruins were found the charred remains of the occupant. Harding was reported to have had considerable money with him, and it is supposed he was murdered for his money and the cabin set on fire to cover the evidence of murder.

The Day's Fires.

Cincinnati.—A fire in the fifth and sixth stories of the John Van Range company building did damage to the amount of $30,000.

Waukegan, Wis.—The sawmill and lumber yard of Bert & Wells were completely destroyed by fire Monday. About 50,000 feet of lumber was burned. The damage is $100,000. Several freight cars belonging to the Milwaukee road were burned.

Chicago.—Fire this morning in Kellogg & McCauley's leather establishment, 62 Canal street, damaged property to the amount of $75,000. Fifty guests of the Washington hotel, adjoining were dragged from their beds by the officers and ran down into the office in their night clothing. The hotel, however, escaped.

Fire in the lumber district did damage to the extent of $20,000. The principle loss was on Holpuch's sash door and blind factory. Mr. Holpuch and J. O'Mera, one of the factory employees, were seriously burned.

A NATIONAL EVENT.

The Great Leland Stanford University Opened This Morning.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 1.—The Leland Stanford, Jr., university at Palo Alto was opened this morning with imposing ceremonies. For some days past examinations have been in progress and several hundred students have been in attendance.

The first class that matriculates will be much larger than is usual with the university, students having come from all parts of the state and the union. All the students and the faculty participated in the opening today.

The Stanford university is to the West what Lehigh university is to the East. Both were founded and liberally endowed by men who from poor boys became rich and whose fortunes were made by railroads.

An Alliance Candidate.

HURON, N. D., Oct. 1.—At 2 o'clock this morning W. H. Smith, of Minnaha county, was nominated for congress on the third ballot by the independent. The nomination is far from satisfactory. The platform pledges allegiance to the principles of the national peoples party and urges the appointment of a non-partisan commission to adjust the details of the tariff.

Bitter Against the United States.

VALPARAISO, Oct. 1.—As an example of the bitter feeling entertained by the masses in this city toward the American government, the following incident is worthy of record. Cleary's opera troupe had the American flag flying in their entertainment, but were forced to take the stars and stripes from the program.

Chicago.—The reports that E. T. Jeffery, formerly manager of the Illinois Central, would be made president of the Denver & Rio Grande, were accurate. Jeffery has been elected president of that company. His election is due to the influence of President Roosevelt, the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe.

Edinburgh.—Gladstone was today present at the jubilee of Trinity college, Glenalmond, and laid the corner stone of the extension of the college which he and others founded in 1841.

New York.—The chamber of commerce today adopted a resolution calling for the repeal of the existing law on the purchase of 4,500,000 ounces of silver per month.

THE EXACT FIGURES.

Duluth Handled 18,000,000 Bushels of Flour and Wheat Last Month.

The Herald yesterday figured out the receipts and shipments for the first month of the crop year just passed, estimating the last day. It was considerably too low in its estimates. Correct figures are given below. They increase the estimates made yesterday by nearly 100,000 bushels in both receipts and shipments.

The figures, compared with the entire crop year preceding, are as follows:

Crop year 1900-01. Receipts. Shipments.
September 1901. 18,202,504 16,132,729
September 1900. 8,191,181 8,410,370

If one figures in the flour handled in the month, as is done in most ports, to give the total breadstuffs, reducing flour to wheat, he gets the magnificent total below:

Wheat, bus. Receipts. Shipments.
Flour, bbls. 8,191,181 8,410,370

Total, wheat bushels, 9,001,626 8,543,775

In other words, the business of the month in receipts and shipments of breadstuffs was equivalent to a total of over 18,000,000 bushels of wheat.

It will be remembered that the St. Paul Pioneer Press a few weeks ago prophesied that, allowing the most liberal estimates, Duluth could ship in three months to the close of navigation 8,000,000 bushels of wheat alone. September exceeded that, October will probably far surpass it, while November may be expected to equal October. Duluth's flour production was, in September, 89,477 barrels, its receipts were 33,209, and its shipments 27,102. Both production and handling of flour from other points is constantly growing.

LEAGUERS MEET.

The Opponents of a Divided Irish Policy Come Together in Chicago.

CHICAGO, Oct. 1.—Irishmen from nearly every section in the country began to gather in Central Music hall this morning. They were assembling in response to the call issued something over a month ago by President Fitzgerald of the Irish National league. It was noticeable at the outset that the convention would in the main be composed of men hitherto unknown, outside of their own particular localities, to the Irish movement. Very few of the old Irish war horses were visible. The decorations of the hall were confined to a rather liberal display of national colors in flags and streamers intermingled with the green flag and harp device. Over the big organ was a painting of Robert Emmet.

Secretary Sutton called the convention to order. He expressed his regret that sickness prevented the attendance of President Fitzgerald and First Vice President Martin. He went on to say that they had assembled from all parts of the country in spite of a hostile opinion by men themselves Irish. They had met for a sacred purpose. They should think only of the land that gave them birth, "but for God's sake," concluded the speaker, "don't let the old cause die. Keep the movement going, keep it on a business basis, keep it in line for victory."

O'Neill Ryan of St. Louis was chosen chairman. "They were," he said, "representing 120,000 Irishmen who demanded union and strength on the other side of the water. They were not assembled to uphold any faction. They were there to say to the Irish people that when they presented a strong and vigorous united policy then could they depend upon receiving the moral and material support of the people of America."

The speaker went on to say that those composing this convention proposed to stamp out any discord that might intrude itself. The cause was greater than men. It had withstood famine, war and the scaffold, but final salvation could only be accomplished by a united Ireland, and all must stand aloof from either of the two great English parties. A recess was taken till 2 p. m.

WAS AN ERROR.

The Chilean Arrests of Americans Was by Irresponsibles.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—The Herald's Valparaiso dispatch this morning gives further particulars of the trouble between the authorities and Minister Egan.

It appears that the legation and its vicinity were watched by the police during all of last week. On last Wednesday three Americans named Hillman, Madden and Raypratt, who had business at the legation, were arrested just after leaving that place. They were detained in prison but a short time, however. In addition to this two of Minister Egan's servants were arrested and kept there for two days.

The Herald correspondent is informed on reliable authority that irresponsible officials caused the whole of the trouble. The vigorous protest of Minister Egan caused the Junta to withdraw its police. Commodore Schley, of the Baltimore, which still lies in the harbor of Valparaiso, is now at Santiago in conference with Minister Egan.

Should do Away With Sham Battles.

BOSTON, Oct. 1.—The Eighth regiment's sham battle was fought at Danvers yesterday. While a portion of the troops was charging a breastwork the men became excited when in close quarters and began firing. Private Chamberlain and Corporal Thomas were quite seriously injured, while many others were hurt by bayonets and explosions of powder.

It Affects the Revenues.

LOSDON, Oct. 1.—A dispatch from St. Petersburg confirms the statement that the dire distress of 25,000,000 of the people unable to pay their taxes is the cause of a deficit of 12,000,000 in the budget. Minister Vichnegradski has just granted another million roubles for the relief of the starving.

Had a Mania for Incendiarism.
BOSTON, Oct. 1.—Louis Schneider, a Jew about 60 years old, was arrested last night charged with setting fire to the dwelling of Jacob Levine. Schneider has been under suspicion for some time past. The police believe that no less than 18 fires have been started by him in the past three or four years.

The Small Packers.

CHICAGO, Sept. 30.—Rumor to the effect that the Stickney tract had been purchased and partly paid by the Chicago National Stock Yards company is confirmed in an interview with Levi Mayor, counsel for the company. The stock is taken exclusively by the 13 packers outside of Armour, Swift and Morris, while Stickney holds the bonds.

The Weather.

U. S. WEATHER BUREAU, DULUTH, MINN., Oct. 1, 1891.—10 a. m.—The storm which was over Duluth yesterday has moved westward, and now central over Duluth. It will probably move easterly today and bring unsettled weather for this section. Snow is falling at all stations in the Northwest and rain in Kansas, Iowa, and Minnesota.

GOLDEN TEXT.

One million square miles of the territory of the United States, or one-third of its entire area, besides much of the Canadian Northwest, are tributary to Duluth.

ADVERTISING MEDIUMS.

The most profitable advertising medium for the general merchant is the one that reaches all classes. The shrewd retail business man would not think of advertising his goods in a trade paper that was read only by a select few in the community, but would seek out the medium that catches the eye of all.

For this reason if he were living in Duluth he would look around till he found out which daily paper is printed for all, rich and poor, toiler and capitalist, and he would make arrangement to present his business interests through its columns. Everybody of course knows that The Herald is the only daily in Duluth that employs union labor and consequently is the only one having a general circulation among that class of our population. These toilers, as tradesmen are aware, are among their best customers. The rich man may buy much of his clothing in the East and the dude is quite likely to order his apparel from an outside house, but the wage-worker spends his little income right at home. He gets his pay weekly or monthly and spends most of it as fast as it is earned. He has certain necessities to supply and his patronage is a regular thing. Thus there is a sharp competition for this trade, and the way to reach it is through a paper that the everyday folks read. It is no particular credit to The Herald that it believes labor has rights, but its policy of justice in this regard, in the face of the fact that the other dailies have discarded union labor, makes it the only daily of general circulation in the city and the only one that can hope to reach the laboring class.

OUR WHEAT BUSINESS.

It is a somewhat remarkable fact that of the 6,200,000 bushels of wheat shipped from Duluth during the month of September, 4,000,000 were for direct export, thus showing how close the Northwest is being drawn to the markets of the world. Estimating flour as wheat our total receipts for the month were 6,691,026 bushels, and our shipments $3,437,775. This makes the average daily receipts for the month a third of 1,000,000 bushels, though great activity in the movement of grain had not been reached till after the first week of September, and on several days near the close of the month the receipts were over 600,000. Duluth is the great primary wheat market and is fast becoming a globe port.

WHY NOT A DULUTH MAN?

No other city in the country is more interested in the honest application of the interstate commerce law than Duluth. Why then, now that there are two vacancies on the commission, should not Duluth ask for recognition. She may not be worthy of a place on the state commission, but there are several of her citizens who could fill in a most acceptable manner a place in the national body. Our city is the one important railroad point in the Northwest, but the only way to make this great truth known is to clamor to the fore and take our part in the national councils.

The appointment yesterday of E. C. Gridley as temporary administrator of the E. L. Emery estate, and the advertisement for his permanent appointment, seems a very fortunate outcome of the matter and ought to prove satisfactory to all interested parties. The value of the estate depends on the early development of the St. Louis water power, and Mr. Gridley who has large acre property interests in the neighborhood which will be greatly enhanced by the success of the water power company, will take a deep interest in an otherwise non-remunerative work. The city of Duluth itself is interested in the matter, for the development of the water power just now when the railways of the American and Canadian Northwest are turning our way, would give a marvelous impetus to the growth of Duluth while it would multiply the value of the estate tenfold.

In regard to the tin plate dispute the evidence seems conclusive that it is not yet manufactured in commercial quantities in the United States, but that plants on a small scale are being established which possibly may grow into very extensive interests. Potter & Wrightington, Boston canners, have for some time advertised to buy 50,000 boxes of American plate, or any part of that number, at British prices, without receiving an offer for any amount. If American plates can be bought they say they would like to know it. Other firms have made similar bids for American tin, but have likewise been unable to obtain the much coveted metal.

Although Candidate Allen declined a series of joint debates with Governor Russell, in Massachusetts, Henry Cabot Lodge will meet ex-Congressman John E. Russell in three debates. The subject for the first meeting will be "The administration of Governor Russell," second, "The attitude of the national democratic party on the silver question," and third, "Prices of the necessities of life as affected by the McKinley bill." Admission is to be by ticket, and each party shall be given an equal number for distribution.

Henry Labouchere, the English radical, has an article in the October Forum in which he expresses a preference for a monarchical system on the English pattern rather than for a republic of the American type. He also asserts that England is not likely to become a republic in the present generation but that monarchy will survive the sweeping away of the house of lords and the established church. These predictions from such a source will be very gratifying to our friend the baccarat Prince of Wales.

The New York Sun touches up ex-Senator Henry W. Blair for suing a soldier's widow to collect $100.31 alleged to be due for services rendered in securing her pension, and attaching her little $500 farm for the debt. The Sun thinks Henry is hardly fitted to be pension commissioner, for which place, since his rejection by the Chinese government, his name has been mentioned. The President has been hard pressed to find a job for the New Hampshire angel.

Mr. H. F. Marsh, editor of the Reporter-Journal, of Towanda, Pa., who was a recent visitor to Duluth, has a column article in his paper touching up the beauties and bustle of our incomparable city. The terrace drive, the manufacturing enterprises, and the "militant Americanism" of our people, are very happily dwelt upon, thus keeping the name of Duluth before the eye of the Eastern investor. Duluth has been an almost universal theme this year.

Telegrams indicate that Pension Commissioner Raum is to step out and ex-Congressman McComes, of Maryland, step in. The latter is one of the bright men of the Republican party, but the tin tariff gave the democrats a clean sweep in Maryland last fall and he was defeated in a republican district. He is a man of pleasing personality and the necessary executive qualifications. Besides there is no taint about him.

Fayette Marsh, of Stillwater, was recently arrested for carrying concealed weapons and for the malicious destruction of city property, but he got off on the grounds that under the city charter the offenses were left to the jurisdiction of state officers. Fayette is a good deal of a Yankee and probably whittled down a hitching post with a dirk knife while talking trash. He ought to charge it up to the Cobden club.

The action of Governor Pattison at the urgent solicitation of prominent Pennsylvania papers, and some of them republican, in calling the state senate together to investigate charges against Auditor General McGamant and State Treasurer Boyer, is having much political effect in that state. The governor has power to remove these officers for cause, and has convened the senate merely to get a verdict in the matter.

Marine Engineer Redway, of Toronto, has drawn plans for a new style of craft which some think will be a rival of the whaleback in the carrying trade. From descriptions it seems to possess many of the features of the whaleback, being shaped much like a canoe with a flat bottom and meager upper works.

THE CORN PALACE.

Description of Sioux City's Beautiful Building Completed Today.

Rising high above the highest buildings in the business center of Sioux City is to be seen a great tower, which glitters in the sunlight like burnished gold. It is the grand central tower of the corn palace, the fifth which Sioux City has erected, and which was opened today. The dome, covered with a solid mass of yellow ears of corn, is as brilliant as a sunburst, and the other bold architectural parts are vivid with the tints of their dressing of natural products, in which corn of various colors is the predominant material.

The corn palace is an immense pavilion, having a frontage of 330 feet with a depth of 150, and Pierce street passes north and south through the center of the building. It is a frame structure, built strong and well braced, sheathed with lumber and having a light roof. The main wall is 60 feet high, the height of the central tower is 200 feet, and its diameter 74 feet. About the tower, 110 feet above the street, is a promenade 12 feet deep, reached by an elevator. Of the other towers there are two circular ones, each 120 feet in diameter. The central tower, being forward of it and rising in a line with the main wall. The outlying square towers over the corners of the building are 80 feet in height. Such architectural features present a great variety of surface, and the decorative purposes, and every square inch of the exterior presents a magnificent glow of colors.

On the second story of the main wall there is a copy of a statue of Ceres. It is a floating figure of corn husks, having the perfect effect of flesh color, and the head is made of corn cobs, and in the other a sheaf are brought out with similar materials. The wings are made of palm-leaf, and the feet are made of red corn. The figure is that of a mechanic standing with the left hand on an anvil, and holding in the right hand a hammer. The feet is a large cog-wheel and implements of the trade. This figure is also made of corn husks, with clothing of millet, while the anvil and iron implements are made of red corn. The effect of the whole is a magnificent massing of color, in which striking contrasts are brought out beyond the possibilities of the painter's brush.

Inside the decorations are far more elaborate than they are without; there is a wider range of materials to choose from and a more refined art in workmanship. The walls are covered with corn, grass, millet, evergreen, old berries and various native grasses. There is a perfect copy of Bartholdi's statue of "Liberty Enlightening the World," standing on a pedestal 12 feet high. The columns and base are made entirely of shaded corn. The figure is 8½ feet high, completely covered with clover and cross seeds to represent bronze. The crown is bronze magnolia leaves tipped with incandescent lights.

Another crown represents "The School Room." The climb to the seat of learning is sweetened by a sugar cane balustrade. The wall design is a blackboard, showing an arithmetical operation, the figures being made with popcorn. Above is a clock, the frame of which is made of red and yellow corn, and the face of corn meal, with blue corn hands pointing to the hour. On the blackboard is a language lesson—"Mary and Her Lamb." Mary's frock and sash are corn husks, her hat millet seed, trimmed with ribbons of corn husks. The school house is built of red corn and straw, with corn husk curtains at the windows. On the right wall hangs a map of Sioux City, made of seeds, and beside it are maps of various countries.

The Sentiment on Home Labor

To the Editor of The Herald.

Your article on united labor deserves special attention. I am sure that every union man in the city feels grateful for so timely an expression of sympathy in the cause of labor, and the stand that The Herald has taken will be forgotten by those who are interested in the cause of united labor. You say truly that The Herald is the only paper that is free to give to the public its entire services as a general newspaper, that is not hampered by any dispute with its employers, as is the case with the papers that employ Duluth printers, men who have made Duluth their home for many a year and who have helped to build it up, for the other papers are run by imported scab labor. It is too bad to see such men take the place of our fellow-citizens, and it is ungrateful of these stockholders, who so often look for the votes of the workmen, to permit of such action on the part of managers, but you may be certain that united labor has its eye on these people and they intend to make their weight felt at the ballot box, and to teach them a lesson that they will not forget. The business men who have the interests of the city at heart, should also show their sympathy in a practical way by withdrawing all support from these non-union papers. Labor intends to watch that and only support its friends in the future and to that end every legitimate means will be brought to bear.

Emerson's Minstrels.

A Burlington paper speaks as follows of the Haverlys: The entertainment given at the Burts last evening was a genuine revival of the old time minstrelsy. There was a dearth of gaudy and or gorgeous costumes and stupendous features, but the performance was original and evenly balanced from beginning to end. And it must be admitted that the attraction was a pronounced success, without any qualification. The usual array of bewhiskered jokes was conspicuous by its absence, and in lieu thereof a fresh supply of funnyisms was sprung to the tickle the fancy of the audience. The introductory concert was marked by many pleasing features and some good singing, the plantation echoes of Jerry Hart and the musical specialties of Billy Emerson calling out enthusiastic accolades.

The second part of the entertainment was made up of a constellation of novelties, each and every one of which was an attraction in itself. There were Griffin and Marks, the best "silence and fun" men in the business, whose clever maneuvers would be an attraction with any company. Jerry Hart and Harry Constantine, the burlesquers, whose laughable make-up antics kept the audience in a roar of laughter, and a feature of which was Constantine's take-off of a danseuse, for which he received unbounded applause; Billy Emerson, whose mimicry and songs have made him the foremost minstrel of the day; Harry Kennedy, whose ventriloquistic feats partake of the marvelous; and the song and dance specialties of the Crawfords, Nestors, Griffin and Marks; and last but not least, the acrobatic humorist of Charles Harding and little Ah Sid, in their original act, entitled "Fun in Wash House."

To give extended notice to one would do injustice to the others, for all are of the most excellent nature, and taken as a whole, form an entertainment that ranks with the best. The entire array of talent constituting Emerson's minstrels is evidently the pick of the profession, and should they ever revisit this city they will be greeted by a house packed from pit to parquet.

Notice to Purchasers.

To those who are building or contemplating purchasing grates and mantels, before buying, investigate the merits and principles of the celebrated Aldine fire place, manufactured at Grand Rapids, Mich., a grate and heater designed with special reference to burning hard coal and one which will not only furnish heat equivalent to that given by an ordinary coal stove, but keep fire over night without burning fuel.

The Aldine fire place is designed to be placed in chimney opening the same as other grates, but can be piped to common chimneys in hot air circulation, with results and appearance equally as good as though special expensive chimneys were provided. The best is always the cheapest in the end. Drop in the J. J. & R. A. Costello's and investigate.

A RICH MINE FOUND.

Explorations on the Hibawik Iron Property Discover Immense Quantities of Best Quality of Ore.

Stated by Discoverers That by Their Test Pittings They Can Estimate 1,500,000 Tons in Sight.

Right-of-Way Work Begins on the Mesaba Road to the Mountain
Iron Property.

Leonidas Merritt, one of the leaders in the proposed Duluth, Mesaba & Northern enterprise, returned yesterday from the Western Mesaba range and left for a ten days' trip to New York in answer to a telegram from two capitalists who are connected with the scheme.

He reported that within the past month another large mine has been shown which will assure the railroad a big business. It is the Hibawik property, located on a 35-mile, just west of the Embarass river and only 12 miles, one east of the Mesaba range. The mine is a new discovery, and when Mr. Merritt was there a couple of days ago they had 1,500,000 tons of ore in sight. One test-pit had been sunk some distance from the others with a good result. If the intervening space shows as well there is over 2,000,000 tons of ore in sight.

At first a soft ore was met with but later a hard, high grade ore was struck. Specimens brought down show 66 per cent pure iron. There is surface area over the mountain company's property, the average being not over 12 feet and in places only six feet. No water has been found to interfere.
The pits thus far sunk are of the deepest grade through 50 feet of clear ore.
It is without doubt a handsome property.
Thirty-two men have begun locating the Duluth, Mesaba & Northern on section 22-18 at the mouth of the Ar-chibuck river. They will follow the river up five or six miles and then strike a straight northerly course for the Mountain Iron company's property. Next week a force will begin clearing the right-of-way.

DULUTH WHEAT TO EUROPE.
About 4,000,000 Bushels for Direct Export

A. D. Thomson, of this city, the head of the grain firm of A. D. Thomson & Co., which is probably the largest wheat exporting firm in the West, states that of the 6,500,000 bushels of wheat which have been shipped out of this city in the past month about 4,000,000 bushels were for direct export. The bulk of this, probably seven-eighths, has gone to the United Kingdom, to Liverpool, London, and other ports—and the rest to several continental countries, Holland, Spain and France. This amount of direct export business is at least twice as heavy as has ever been seen here. There has never been such a demand for Duluth wheat from abroad and the sales have been at satisfactory prices. The demand still continues and there is a large amount of wheat yet to be shipped.

A. J. Sawyer & Co. have done a good deal of export business from here this fall, and some other firms have also been engaged in it. One export shipment made by Van Dusen went to Amsterdam in sacks. Most of the demand for Duluth wheat is for the two high grades, but latterly there has been more disposition to take No. 2 northern as a milling wheat.

The export flour business here is developing. The Duluth millers direct. In the last six weeks the output here has been about 100,000 barrels, and probably about one-quarter of this has been exported, most of the market for Duluth flour being in the East and middle states. The flour exports have gone to London, Liverpool, Glasgow and the continent.

The receipts of the last few days have been very small at this point and most of the grain men attribute the fall to the rains throughout the Northwest. They have had only two days of threshing weather in the past 12 days," said Oliver Dalrymple. "Besides, a great deal of frost has set in, and the grain is now of course it is sent to Minneapolis in preference to Duluth."

George Kuyper believes the fact that Minneapolis is receiving more wheat than Duluth just now to the fact that the weather has been good for threshing in the wheat country south of Minneapolis and more directly tributary to her than to Duluth. He says that she is receiving more wheat than Duluth from the same section in which there have been copious rains.

A Nice Increase for the Month.
Postal business for the month and quarter, in sale of stamps shows well. It is as follows:

Receipts for September, 1891.....$6,728.68
Total receipts for third quarter 1891.....$20,721.14
Corresponding quarter last year.....$19,159.10

PLEASANTLY WEDDED.

The Marriage Ceremony Unites Miss
Watson and Mr. Larke.
The Duluthians who attended the wedding of T. H. Larke, general agent of the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic at this point, and Miss Bessie Watson, of Marquette, returned from Marquette this morning and reported that it was a most pleasant affair. It occurred at high noon in St. Paul's church. Rev.
Galpin, of Ishpeming, a particular friend of the bride and her family, officiating.
The church, both below and above the gallery was packed. The bridesmaids were Miss Edna Watson, sister of the bride; Misses Ball, Palmer and Merritt;
the last named a daughter of Dr. H. Merritt, president of the Iron Bay company of Duluth. The maid of honor was Miss Case, of Marquette. Two tiny girls,
Miss Palmer and a sister of the bride, acted as flower girls. D. M. Philbin, superintendent of the South Shore road, was best man, and Messrs. Watson, A.
E. Miller, Cross and Chipman were ushers.
Mr. Cross is in the office of the Iron Bay company at West Duluth. Mr.
Watson chief clerk of the general passenger department of the "Soo" line at Minneapolis. Mr. Miller attorney of the South Shore road, and Mr. Chipman manager of the Duluth Tribune.

The bridal procession was led by the little flower girls, who wore dresses of white, then came the bridesmaids, wearing handsome costumes in white, pink, and gold and blue. The bride wore a plain black business suit. The bride came down the aisle alone, closely followed by her parents. She wore a white train, with the customary veil, and carried in her hand a large bouquet of white roses. When she arrived at the altar she was met by the groom, who with the best man had entered from a

DONNELLY'S LATEST.

Advised Farmers to Hold Their Wheat
Thirty Days.

St. Paul, Oct. 1.—Ignatius Donnelly was here today on his way to Little Falls, where he delivers an address before the people who will attend the Morrison county fair today. Mr. Donnelly stated that over 10,000 copies of "Dr.
Huguet" had already been sold and orders were coming in fast, after which he replied to a question as to whether or not he, as president of the farmers alliance, had issued another wheat circular.

"Yes, I have issued one," said he. "It advises farmers to hold their wheat for 30 days longer at least. They are getting enough for it at the present time, and while I believe that prices will naturally rise during the winter, I believe that the price of 1891 will tend to greatly increase the rise. I have been misrepresented by the statement that I advised farmers to sell as soon as they threshed. That's wrong. I have always been in favor of the wintering of wheat, and I believe the price can be obtained. The latter cannot be obtained at present."

The State will come out Friday with another circular. The wheat crop of the ten years from 1880 to 1890 are taken up as a basis of comparison, and the circular holds that there is danger of exporting too much wheat. During the ten years in question it is claimed we raised 4,407,000,000 bushels of wheat. Of this
1,268,000,000 were exported and 3,139,000,000 were consumed at home. In other words, we raised 62,000,000 bushels more than the average of those ten years, but we consumed 46,000,000 bushels more, leaving only 16,000,000 bushels more for export.

The circular continues: "We have now exported 5,000,000 bushels of our new crop and have 9,000,000 to spare, for 50,000,000 of which charters have been chartered. If we export the rest of the crop of 6,000,000 bushels per week our surplus will be exhausted if we sell this up till Christmas. If we sell our wheat to Europe cheap we will have extraordinary high wheat prices here with a moderate boom, or we will have moderately high prices with an extraordinary boom if we hold our wheat for high prices now."

The cereals of instituting New Duluth's first baptist church were carried out yesterday afternoon. The church was organized with 14 members, and the new organization was recognized by the Church of New Duluth. Among delegates, etc., present were from Duluth
L. L. Cloyd, H. V. Holmes, Endion;
Rev. G. H. Kemp, N. A. Gearhart, C. P.
Grady, Duluth; Second: Rev. E.

Duluth Pierre & Black Hills.
General Manager Ward, of the Duluth
Pierre & Black Hills has just returned to Dakota from the East, where he has had a conference with the prominent officials of the Northern Pacific, and is backing the new road. They told him that the first assessment on stock had been made to build the road and that the stockholders were to be paid in full between Oakes and Aberdeen, and that iron would be laid this year as far as Faulkton and probably to Pierre. $200,000 of the contract and sixty miles of road are graded out of Aberdeen and fifteen out of Pierre.

Sample Market Wanted.
Oliver Dalrymple said to a Herald man this morning: "Duluth is at a disadvantage as a grain market because it does very little business by sample.
If you are going to get the wheat of the majority of the farmers here you must have them in person. We export their grain by sample, as is the case in Minneapolis. Large quantities of wheat are sold for export in New York on sample and I don't know why the same thing can't be done here."

The Duluth Furnace Company.
A stock concern has within the past few days been organized in Chicago under the laws of Illinois to operate the plant of the Duluth Steel and Iron company at West Duluth. It is to be known as the West Duluth Furnace company.
The capital stock is placed at $200,000.
The incorporators are Charles Hinrod, Kirk Hinrod and Jesse Holden, several of the men whom The Herald has noted concerned as being lessees of the plant.

Licenses Wins.
Yesterday was New Duluth's first election and it resulted in a walkover for the license adherents. There was practically but one ticket in the field and the only question manifested was that of "license" or "no license." The former won. The election resulted as follows:
President, Gus Lind, trustee, Julius F.
Hermann, Henry Kreger, Ira T. Mahoney, recorder, Leonard B. Page, treasurer,
Beckley, Charles Lind, clerk, John O'Leary, collector, Eli E. Sager.

Cold in the West.
Last night's reports from the West state that it is snowing in Montana and Idaho, and that the temperature has fallen 25 degrees below freezing at Helena and a cold wave was rapidly moving Eastward.

FIGURES ON DEBT.

A Late Census Statement That Shows the Farmers are not so Badly Off.

Chicago Alone Owes More Than Calamity States and Chicago Isn't Kicking.

Figures of the Mortgage Debt of Illinois Run into an Enormous Total.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—The census office today made a statement showing that the real estate mortgage debt in force in Illinois in January, 1890, was $84,299,260, of which $165,289,222 was on acre tracts and the rest on village and city lots.

The debt on Cook county, including Chicago, was $19,518,209, of which $14,065,395 was on acres and $177,452,904 on lots. The Cook county debt is 48.8 per cent of the debt of the state and the debt of eight counties is 60.2 per cent of the total.

Fifteen principal counties owe $262,221,002 of the state's total debt. In these counties are situated Chicago, Bloomington, Peoria, Joliet, Quincy, Elgin, East St. Louis, Aurora, Ottawa, Streator, Belleville, Danville, Springfield and Rockford.

The debt of Chicago is $24,373,170 larger than the farm debt of Kansas, $42,703,564 larger than the farm debt of Iowa and $112,068,830 larger than the entire mortgage debt of Alabama and Tennessee. The per capita debt of Illinois is $100, while that of Kansas is $165 and that of Iowa $106.

LOSSES IN HALIFAX.

The Nova Scotia Seaport Has a Half Million Dollar Fire.

HALIFAX, N. S., Oct. 2.—The most disastrous fire that visited Halifax for years took place this morning. It broke out before 1 o'clock a. m. in the Brooklyn mill on Taylors wharf, near the Cunard wharves. In a few minutes the place was all ablaze and the fire spread rapidly. A gentle breeze from the north carried showers of live sparks to the buildings, vessels and wharves south of the fire.

Within an hour Merlins mill, Wilson's blacksmith shop, John Taylor & Co.'s big fish warehouse filled with pickled fish, Brookfield Bros' lumber warehouse and yards were destroyed. By this time the fire had spread to the Liverpool wharf on the north, and burned out Butler's yards, the Halifax broom factory, J. B. Neilly & Co., commission merchants, and Halford Bros., oil dealers. Large quantities of petroleum were stored on the wharf, and an explosion was prevented by rolling the oil into the dock. The fire spread simultaneously to the south wharf and soon the immense fish warehouses of John Taylor & Co. were a prey to the flames.

The loss is very heavy. A score of schooners at the burning wharves quickly moved out to the harbor. By 1 o'clock this morning the whole block from John Cronin's on the south to the north side of Hamilton's wharf on the north, almost adjoining the Cunard wharves, had been destroyed. The city is crowded with visitors attending the exhibition. The military were called out and the admiral ordered out all the man-of-war sailors with their hand engines and reels. At noon the fire was under control.

The loss by the fire is estimated at about $400,000. Insurance is $150,000.

A Family Perished.

PARIS, Oct. 2.—At Puy-laurens, in the department of Tarn, today, 14 houses were destroyed by fire. A family of six persons perished in the flames.

Other Fires.

Cincinnati.—The main building of the St. Aloysius orphan asylum burned yesterday. When the fire was discovered the school was in session and 162 children being distributed throughout the building. When the alarm was given a panic ensued, but the children were all removed in safety. The building is a total loss, but is fully insured for $30,000.

Chicago—Fire gutted the top floor of the 5-story building at 52 and 54 Lake street today.

The block was occupied by the Globe Light and Heating company as general offices and by Pitkin & Brooks, china and glassware importers, as a store room. The entire loss will not exceed $20,000.

Birmingham, Ala.—Fire at Alexander City, Ala., this morning burned the Alliance warehouse and 500 bales of cotton. Loss is $125,000; partially insured.

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—Daniel Thompson, a laborer, formerly a theatrical manager, was found dead in his cell in a police station this morning. He had been suspected of recent burglaries and locked up. He was 45 years of age. Thompson formerly managed the Standard theater for the late John Duff. He married an actress and had much domestic trouble. Of late he had been almost a tramp. Death resulted from heart disease.

FEAR IN SAVANNAH.

Great Loss by the Strike: the City Apprehensive of Trouble.

SANANNAH, Ga., Oct. 2.—Savannah expects trouble as a result of the great strike and has prepared for it by swarming in a large number of special policemen. Last night large details of well armed men were placed at the several armories to prevent any attempt strikers might make to obtain arms stored there. There is a general feeling of apprehension and it is feared a disturbance may occur at any moment. Several hundred white laborers are to be brought from New York and other points to set the places of the strikers. The new men will be protected no matter at what cost. The financial loss to the city is enormous.

ROCK ISLAND BONDS.

The Road Will Issue About $10,000,000 In Bonds.

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—According to reports which had effect in Wall street the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific is about to issue $10,000,000 or more bonds. Some rumors have it that the bonds have already been issued. President Cable in a telegram to the head of a prominent stock exchange firm last night, is quoted as denying the issue. Meanwhile at the New York office of the company the report was officially confirmed and a financial news agency issued the following statement of the New York Rock Island office:

"We may, later on, issue some debenture bonds. If so, they will be issued instead of a further issue of extension and collateral trust bonds, which will be retained in the treasury. These debentures will be issued for equipment, and we have about 90 miles of new road. They will bear 5 per cent."

As to Gould.

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—The World after referring to the rumors of Jay Gould's death, says: "As a matter of fact, however, the statement of Eddie Gould that his father is all right. 'There is no truth whatever in the story that he is sick. My father is enjoying his usual health. He was at the office this morning. The hammering Missouri Pacific railroad yesterday, and to the set back to Rock Island cannot be connected with rumors about his health. They were caused, I suppose, by some of the boys who thought they ought to give the bulls a twist.'"

Because of Blaine's Health.

OTTAWA, Oct. 2.—Lord Stanley received intimation from Washington that President Harrison requested a postponement of the reciprocity conference arranged to take place Oct. 12, on account of the ill health of Secretary Blaine. The Canadian government will be prepared to begin the conference as soon as President Harrison arranges another date.

He Roughed it Up for Health.

PENSACOLA, Fla., Oct. 2.—The fishing smack Ada, of this port, is given up as lost. She had been seen on the coast of Cuba in a month. She carried a crew of six men. The names of three are Maurice Loughan, captain of Gloucester, Mass.; Charles I. Bates and Charles B. Kinney, of New York. Bates was a medical student "roughing it" for health.

Prayer and Works Together.

LONDON, Oct. 2.—Chief Rabbi Hermann Adler has prepared a special prayer which is to be offered in all the synagogues of England on the day of the Russian revolution. The prayer is in behalf of the Russian Jews who are suffering and destitute. The Russo-Jewish committee has had an appeal for funds and the Rothschilds have agreed to subscribe $50,000 thereto.

All Quiet in Chile.

VALPARAISO, Oct. 2.—The probable cause of the trouble between the Santiago officials and Mr. Egan was the belief of the former that the refugees in the American legation were hatching a conspiracy against the Junta. There was not the least foundation for this conviction.

Barillas Denies All.

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—Joseph Barillas, consul general from Guatemala, has just received the following cable from Guatemala under date Oct. 1: "Absolute peace reigns in Guatemala. Deny all rumors of revolution, which are false and malicious. Barillas."

Exeter, N. H.—There is serious trouble in old Phillips academy, attributed to members of the four secret societies suppressed this year. Last night fifteen students forced an entrance into a boarding house and seized a student named Weston. New Orleans, member of the senior class and a representative non-society lad. Well received rough treatment. The others were arrested.

RAN PRIVATE BANK.

Two Hundred Thousand of Assets in Pennsylvania Disappear in the Thin Air.

While Out in Illinois Depositors in Another Private Bank are Made Penniless.

Riots Probable Because of the Stealing in the Keystone State Concern.

CLEARFIELD, Pa., Oct. 2.—President Dill of the suspended First National bank of this place, and of the private bank at Houtzdale, which also suspended, and John B. McGrath, cashier of the latter bank, who was arrested last night on the charge of embezzlement, entered bail this morning. Dill was held in $25,000. He has as yet been unable to obtain bondsman.

The report that Dill has made an assignment is incorrect, but judgments aggregating $3000 have been entered against him. Twenty-six thousand dollars of these judgments are held in trust for his wife. It is said that several more warrants for Dill will be sworn out today.

Hungarians and others who had money in the bank at Houtzdale are still riotous and threaten trouble. The bank had deposits of $200,000, but there is only $60,000 of cash or securities in sight.

Boston Bankers Fail.

BOSTON, Oct. 2.—A. B. Turner & Bro., bankers, of 89 State street, have failed. The firm, which was supposed to have abundant capital behind it, has only been in business about two years. Their capital was tied up in wide margins on corporation and water works securities of undoubted value, but slow sales, lack of ready funds to meet the sharp decline caused suspension. No other house will be involved.

Boulanger's Remains.

BRUSSELS, Oct. 2.—A number of photographs of Boulanger's remains have been taken as they rest in the casket. The coffin is composed of three cases. The innermost is of lead, the middle of white satin. On the lid is a large mahogany cross and copper plate, on which is simply inscribed: "General Boulanger." The testament of the dead general is firmly written in his own handwriting and is carefully phrased and punctuated. It urges his followers to continue in their policy towards the government.

A member of the household, on entering the general's room two weeks ago, surprised him on the point of committing suicide.

WARMEST ON RECORD.

Last Month Shown to be the Hottest September Known.

Last month was the warmest Duluth has experienced in the past twenty years. So says Signal Officer Bronson in his report just issued.

The highest temperature was 90 degrees on the 17th which was also the warmest day of the year. The average temperature was 62 which was 3 warmer than September 1874 which was the warmest on record until last month came along. The coldest September on record was in 1886, 51. The lowest temperature reached last month was 42 on the 3d, on which date the first frost of the season was recorded. The earliest frost ever recorded was on Aug. 3, 1886. The highest wind velocity was 35 miles from the west on the 20th, while in September of 1881 the highest velocity ever recorded here—78 miles from the north-east—is on record.

The rainfall last month was 3.31 inch, the heaviest before was 11.52 inches in September of 1881, followed in 1882 by the least, ever recorded, 1.29 inch. A total of 3827 miles of wind passed over the station, the prevailing direction being northwest, 41 per cent coming from that point, while 36 per cent was of winds less than 4 miles per hour.

There was 14 cloudless, 5 partly cloudy, and 11 cloudy days; rain fell on 9 days of the month; thunder storms occurred on the 14th, 19th and 28th; lunar halo on the 20th.

HELPING THE LOGGERS.

Cloquet Mills Waiting for Logs: News of the Lumbermen.

The big mill of the C. N. Nelson Lumber company at Cloquet shut down a few days ago for lack of logs. All summer long rains have been falling throughout Northern Minnesota except near the head waters of the St. Louis, and consequently other lumbermen who get logs on the Minnesota side have had plenty of lumber, while the Cloquet people were very hard up. The rains of the past few days have affected the St. Louis and its tributaries, and there is every probability that 25,000,000 feet of logs that have been hung up will soon be in the hands of the lumbermen. It has been decided to open the dams on the St. Louis and Pine rivers next Monday. The rains have also helped out south shore loggers, and they hope to get down 10,000,000 feet or more soon.

The Nelson company, which has eight miles of logging railroad in operation, is receiving 50,000 feet of logs per day via the Duluth & Winnipeg at Cloquet. The company now has a couple of crews in the woods, and the Cloquet Lumber company has a crew.

W. T. Bailey, of this city, will send a crew to Rainy river about the 15th. He expects to cut 6,000,000 feet this year.

Bradley & Hanford have a logging crew of 60 men back of New London on Lester river.

Peyton, Kimball & Barber have sent a logging crew up the Nemadji.

Duncan, Brewer & Co. are running their plating mill night and day to accommodate their customers in Western Minnesota and Dakota.

GOLDEN TEXT.

Duluth's pioneer large flour mill has in its brief existence been more successful than any in America. In a year Duluth will be grinding 9000 barrels of flour daily.

THE COALMEN'S GRIE.

A recent New York dispatch announces that the Eastern general coal agents have decided to fix the October anthracite output at 500,000 tons, over the September limit. Ability on the part of these agents to control the mines implies the possession of a grip on the coal product of the country that is strong enough to subvert the laws of supply and demand. In a paper that has been issued by the census bureau it is shown that the area of the entire anthracite region of Pennsylvania is about 1800 square miles, but that the area underlain by workable coal is only about 170 square miles. These coal fields are so small, comparatively, that they can be owned and controlled by one company or syndicate of companies, and that is the main reason why the people of the United States are so helplessly in the hands of the anthracite "coal barons."

The bulletin mentioned states that the output of anthracite coal during 1890 was 15,600,487 tons, worth at the mines $66,000,000, and that the average value of all saleable grades of anthracite was $1.58 per ton at the mines. It will strike the average consumer of anthracite coal that if the coal is worth only $1.58 per ton at the mine, there is a big margin of profit for the mine owners and coal dealers in coal sold in Duluth at an average of $5.75 per ton. Vessels are now carrying coal from Buffalo to Duluth at 50 cents per ton, have all summer been giving a less freight than that, and it is only 150 miles by rail from the heart of the anthracite region of Pennsylvania to the shipping ports on Lake Erie. At present prices in Duluth there is a margin of over $3.50 a ton to pay the rail freight from the mines to the lakes, handling at Duluth, and profits to coal agents and dealers. This is altogether too much, when the improved facilities of shipment and handling are taken into consideration. "But what are you going to do about it?" say the "coal barons" and agents, as Boss Tweed once said to the people of New York city. An assertion in the census bulletin that the anthracite coals of Colorado and New Mexico are of superior quality and apparently in ample supply for the growing demands of that section of the country, and that in the near future they will constitute a formidable competitor in the Western markets for the Pennsylvania anthracites, may be accepted as consolatory information, but the area of these fields is only 15 square miles.

Duluth consumes annually over 100,000 tons of anthracite coal, therefore every mine of 50 cents a ton by the coal combine will make a difference of $50,000 to our people. The best anthracite coal ought to sell here at $5 a ton, and this means that Duluth alone pays the coal monopoly a tribute of $100,000 a year. Any computation of the amount paid the monopoly by the entire Northwest would show enormous figures.

BUILDINGS AND EARTH TREMORS.

The most northerly point at which the tremor of the earthquake a few days ago was noticed seems to have been Chicago, and the question of whether or not the big crop of tall buildings which has sprung up in Chicago will render that city an unduly hazardous place, in view of the possibilities of future earthquakes, is undergoing general discussion.

One matter bearing very strongly upon the point at issue seems to have escaped notice, says a Milwaukee paper, and that is that the steel frameworks which are in general favor for high buildings now are in all probability as nearly earthquake-proof as any structure fit for the needs of business that could be devised. The upright and horizontal pieces of steel which form this framework are bolted together, and so constructed that they will bear considerable lateral strain, if need be, though their main province is to carry superimposed burdens. The most tremendous shaking which any earthquake in the latitude of Chicago or Milwaukee is likely ever to occasion would not cause the bolts in this framework to part.

The Milwaukee paper fails to note, however, that such a shaking as a very moderate earthquake might give in the latitude of Chicago or Milwaukee, would quickly detach from the steel framework the superimposed brick, stone or terra cotta which forms the skin on the steel ribs. This material falling into the streets and leaving the building a skeleton, would work fearful havoc and the possibility may well cause the questionings that are now made in Chicago. Duluth is too firmly anchored to the backbone of the world to ever allow an earthquake to shake us into insecurity.

THE PUFFED TOAD.

The trouble with the alliance leaders of this state, who send out hold-your-wheat circulars, seems to be that they cannot look beyond the confines of the three spring wheat states of the Northwest. The Herald fully agrees with the alliance in its statement that wheat is too low in price and that it will be higher, but it seems no reason to believe that a holding of the crop by these states till winter will help farmers.

Only about a quarter of the wheat crop of the United States is in the Northwest, and of this quarter a fourth of the part available for export is gone for export. Suppose farmers hold wheat till take navigation closes. They will then be obliged to hold till May. By that time the winter wheat of Europe is in the market, and in little more than another month the winter crop of the United States is ready for export. Of what avail the holding of wheat in Minnesota and Dakota after the crops of next year are in market?

Our morning edition, run by Bishop Brown, seems tintured with gall. It gives The Herald the following advice: "If The Herald has an ambition to abandon ecstatic poetry and to devote itself to plain, everyday news gathering, it may in the course of time be able to make a respectable comparison with other news papers" [of which the News, by inference considers itself one] "In the meantime it will do well to say nothing." Continuing, the bishop announces that "even in its most crippled stage the News was beating its evening contemporary in news gathering, and The Herald simply gleaned from these columns all it printed." There isn't any use going back of the returns. Only this morning, out of twenty-four "city" items in the News, twenty had appeared in The Herald last night. In most The Herald's wording wasn't changed. But that's all right. The News is generally recognized as The Herald's morning edition.

France is boasting that henceforth she is mistress of her own destinies. The trouble is, she has never gotten over the Napoleonic idea that she should also be mistress of the destinies of Europe. So long as she attends strictly to her own affairs, she will be prosperous. As soon as she commences meddling with the sword in the destinies of other nations, she will receive another castigation, such as Germany gave her 20 years ago.

The secret orders of Sedalia, which is in Missouri, are in deep grief. A woman was discovered, by her sneer, peeping into a window where all the lodges meet. It is supposed she learned the secrets of the Woodmen and Knights of Pythias and A. O. U. W., and perhaps a few more. They are very much afraid she won't keep the secrets.

The Saratoga Union, which a short time ago adopted the magazine form for a daily edition, has just gone back to the old style. The New York Continent, which started the idea, failed some time ago. Apparently the days for small-paged, pasted and cut newspapers are not yet ripe.

Knut Nelson says his congressional life almost bankrupted him, and that he wants no more politics of any kind. Let this be a ringing word of advice to many of Duluth's would-be politicians.

By the successful opening of a new port of entry at Lakeside this morning the business facilities of the head of the lakes are correspondingly increased. Lakeside is now in number only three vessels behind the Superior entry for the season. If we have frequent fogs this difference will decrease quickly.

A WOMAN has just been granted a patent upon a device for teaching the value of coins. If she will introduce it thoroughly among her sex she will have a monument higher than the theater has or the prize thereof.

FARMERS in corn states will be obliged to buy coal for fuel. This is one of the baleful effects of the McKinley tariff. They'll have to sell all their 1,000,000 bushels of corn and cannot afford to burn a bushel.

SARAH BRENNHART is said to express a profound contempt for money. This high-bred scorn, however, does not find expression in her prices.

Ever the Standard Oil company is welcomed back to Duluth. But it's coming doesn't soothe the troubled waters across the bay.

The Seine fisherman always estimates his business on his net receipts.

The Iowa politicians are having a rather hot time of it.

What the lake commerce wants is to get into deep water.

Business is Business.

When the Georgia bill collector rushed up and entered in:

And to that bill collector the solemn person said:

"He's going to be an angel—our friend will soon be dead!"

That Georgia bill collector—did he write his obituary notice?

Or try to find his title clear to mansions in the sky?

No! he simply jerked his notebook (Ah! how the story stings).

And said: "I'll put my claim in for a mortgage on his wages!"

A Seance With the Keely Motor.

The mystery surrounding the Keely motor is a phase of that interesting device which is handled very forcibly by T. C. Smith in the October number of the Engineering Magazine. In the course of his article he says: Let me say frankly that in going there I did not expect to find out anything about how Mr. Keely produces the effects he shows. I acted upon the belief that his exhibitions were like the examinations which a conjuror permits his audience to make of his apparatus—namely, if there was any chance of his secret being discovered he would not make the offer. We were shown the "generator," a complicated arrangement of tubes, diaphragms and rods, and were assured that it had been all apart and not expected to make a test that day. By the way, this short notice seems to be not infrequent, it being very usually given as the reason why the test is incomplete and the apparatus unfinished.

Mr. Keely proceeded to produce the force by striking a large tuning-fork with a fiddle-bow, and then touching the generator with the fork. After two or three strokes, which he made in a very rapid manner, he turned a small valve on the top of the generator, when a slight hiss was heard, and loud cheering greeted his announcement that he had "got it." Nothing had been offered so far to prove that the power had simply been stored up in the generator, save Mr. Keely's bare statement, yet it is doubtful if already any one of his adherents did not sincerely believe that the power was in the generator in pieces when we entered the room.

Our company was, now in a fit condition to see the 350 to 400 horse power engine. It consisted of a large copper sphere carried on a shaft which rested in bearings, and was furnished with a belt pulley and various devices. Mr. Keely apologized for the governor not being in order, giving the same excuse of not having expected to produce a test that day. He produced a large iron cylinder similar to those used for holding compressed gases. This cylinder which he called the "receiver," had some fluid in it, which we were told was only water to cool the mysterious "fluid." It must be remembered that some of these present working or not working of this machine represented the fulfillment of the hopes of years.

This protocol among the facts, a tension in which common sense was at a discount, and no objection was possible to Mr. Keely's connecting this large receiver, as well as the apparatus previously used, to the engine by means of tubes and connections. He now ordered his assistant to turn the valve, and the larger of the two cylinders previously used, and also turned the valve on the receiver, which he himself had particular charge, and the large copper sphere immediately began to revolve, slowly at first, afterwards at about 150 turns a minute. These the following beggarly description. Hats were thrown up, cheers and yells resounded.

Stripped of all verbiage and mysterious surroundings, what failed to test amount? There was not one thing shown us which could not be produced by well known mechanical means; nor was there any real inquiry. Any one who asked the simplest question tending to an honest investigation was glared at by every member of the company, as though he had grossly insulted Mr. Keely and his disciples.

Patriots Without a Patria.

Alec McChesne's Philadelphia Times. Of course the negro is not wanted in the National Camp of the Patriotic Sons of America, and they are simply human in not wanting them. In point of fact, nobody wants the negro either North or South, excepting when there is menial labor to perform or his vote is wanted to sustain an endangered party. A large majority of the workmen of this city are enthused regularly once or twice a year to work and vote to give the negro his rights, but there is not an organization of mechanics in this entire city that will admit a negro to fellowship, nor is he permitted to work side by side with the white mechanic in any of our industrial channels.

The South, with all its alleged hatred of the black man, treats him vastly better than do the people of the North. We have seen more negroes in a single legislature in the South, elected by the democrats on regular democratic tickets, than have been elected in all the Northern states since the adoption of negro suffrage, and there is not a state in the North where the black man can't work side by side with white mechanics and laborers. Long before republican Philadelphia clad the negro in blue and gave him the policeman's mace, he was to be seen on the police force in leading cities of the South; but in the North he has been ostracized. The Patriotic Sons of America have simply fallen into the general swim in deciding that they don't want the negro in their "patriotic" fellowship.

Treasurers of a Bank in New York
Get Away With Half a Million.

After it was Taken the Worthy Trusttees Announced the Bank All Right.

Detectives Looking for the Defaulting Illinois Bankers; Arrests in Pennsylvania.

KINGSTON, N. Y., Oct. 3.—As a result of an examination carried on for several days by bank examiners, the Orange Savings bank of Kingston did not open for business today. Treasurer Ostrander was recently arrested, charged with misappropriating $75,000 of the funds, and this caused a run, but the flurry ceased on the announcement being made by men in a position to know, that the bank was sound.

If it now stated that Ostrander and Assistant Treasurer Trumpdorff are short in their accounts between $475,000 and $500,000. Both are arrested.

The examiners have not completed their work, and further stealings are expected to be unearthed. Trumpdorff had his clothes packed up, was preparing to leave town when arrested at midnight. When the arrest of Ostrander the other day started a run the other banks came to the rescue and the trustees of the savings institution made a statement showing resources of $2,134,085, liabilities, $1,887,731; surplus, $247,254. They declared that they knew of no safer place in the county to deposit money. The loss by Ostrander's operations has been partly made good and they hoped to secure the remainder, but in any event the loss could not affect depositors. This was signed by the leading citizens and had such a reassuring effect that depositors who drew out their money during the run redeposited it. The feeling against the men signed the statement is bitter. Most of the depositors are poor people, many of them old men and women dependent on the interest on the small amounts they have in the bank, and these can be seen weeping over their loss in all parts of the city. First Vice President Brodhead, who was in executive charge of the bank, is also severely censured for signing the statement. Brodhead has been one of the most popular young men in the county, having recently been elected county treasurer and enjoying general confidence.

The system by which Ostrander and Trumpdorff carried out their embezzlement was a very ingenious one, so much so as to baffle for twenty years the skill of expert examiners in the employ of the state.

A 100 FREQUENT TRAVEL.

President Dill, of a Pennsylvania Bank, Ready for a Home in Jail.

CLEARFIELD, Penn., Oct. 3.—The way is being gradually prepared for the transit of President Dill of the First National bank here and the private bank of Houtzville, to the penitentiary. Bank Examiner Miller gave information before Justice of the Peace McCullough charging Dill with falsifying the bank's books by making a false entry of $100,000 on July 14.

Tonight Dill is a prisoner in his own house. The room in which he is confined is furnished in palatial style and the floor is carpeted with rugs of kingly taste. Paintings on the walls are of value and such are seldom seen on one side of a gallery. Until today all but a few hotheaded depositors believed him not guilty of premeditated dishonesty. Before Dill entered financial circles he had been a Methodist minister and has always been held in high standing. He claims he knows nothing about the books being falsified and said he felt sure the matter would be righted in court.

The Illinois Private Bank.

CHRISTIAN, Ill., Oct. 3.—This little town is still in a fever of excitement over the absconding of the Standford Bros., bankers. It is thought the brothers are ahead all the way from $150,000 to $300,000. The Standfords traded friend and foe alike in their fleeing game. They spared neither the rich nor the poor, the old nor the young. It is a severe blow to Christian, and it will be years before the town will recover from it. A reward has been offered for the arrest of the Standfords.

Gladstone's Speech.

LONDON, Oct. 3.—Referring to Gladstone's speech, the Times criticizes his handling of the labor question. The news says: "Gladstone's warning to the peers is likely to exert a wholesome influence on them. They will probably throw Lord Salisbury overboard as they did before when the ship labors and threatens to founder." The Times says: "Gladstone never before abdicated the functions of a great leader or sank so absolutely to the position of the mouthpiece of a political machine. He plays the part of a mere showman of the wares turned out by a caucus."

Killed all But Three.

HELENA, Ark., Oct. 3.—The Lee county troubles are probably over unless the mob attempts to hang the negroes in the Marianna jail. Some fears of such an occurrence are expressed. It now appears that not less than 15 negroes out of the gang of 18 who began the trouble were killed. The others are in jail.

A Corbin-Vanderbilt Fight.

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—Austin Corbin is continuing in the Camden, Watertown & Northern surveys, which are to fight the Rome, Watertown & Ogdensburg line, just bought by the Vanderbilts. There is no need of a road there, and the Vanderbilts will probably fight Mr. Corbin by building on Long Island a road for which they have an old charter.

Frances No. 2.

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—Mrs. Cleveland has become a mother. The newcomer in the ex-president's family is a daughter.

The Pioneer Makes a Shipment.

No boats cleared from Two Harbors yesterday. The Gratiwick is taking on a cargo of 1600 tons of Pioneer ore—the first of the season. Last year this mine shipped 12,000 tons.

A WORLD'S MARKET.

American Railway Appliances are Gaining Prestige Abroad.

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—In the matter of railroad cars England is becoming so much Americanized that it is sending over here to have us build them of American wood, steel and iron and by American labor. The steamship Tower Hill, of the Wilson line, which sails this morning, carries a complete train of six drawing room cars for the Southeastern railway. They are altogether American except in size. They were built by the Gilbert Car company and are necessarily smaller than American cars, because of the smaller tunnel through which they will pass. They are not much wider than an elevated railway car and are 55 feet long. Cars on American roads are 61 feet or more long and 14 feet 6 inches high. These for the English road are 12 feet high. The interior woodwork is antique oak, with French upholstery and silk curtains. The train includes a buffet car.

The novel feature is the Baker hot water heater. Railroad cars in England now are seldom heated. At intervals porters bring the boxes full of heat for passengers to put their feet on. The trucks are American style, but the buffers are English. The train will be lighted by electricity. The battery is considerably heavier than any yet run in England. The cars packed for shipping are in pieces and boxed up. It took two canisters to carry the battery. They were transferred from the boats to the steamship yesterday.

DAMAGES FOR MURDER.

A Widow Sues the Slayer of Her Husband.

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—Mrs. Larbig, widow of Theo. Larbig, has brought suit against Darwin J. Meserole, who now awaits trial for the murder of Larbig. Mrs. Larbig says that in killing her husband Meserole took away her means of support; that she has now to maintain her four children, and she therefore sues for $5000.

Savannah's Strike Broken.
SAVANNAH, Ga., Oct. 3.—The wharf laborers' strike is broken. The strikers are still out and up to last night had rejected every proposition to compromise, but their places are being rapidly filled. The railroad company announces that it will grant two and a half cents advance recommended by the committee but must turn to work as individuals.

Raum Will Stay.
CHICAGO, Oct. 3.—Green B. Raum, pension commissioner, says: "The President told me that he was satisfied with so as to baffle for twenty years the skill of expert examiners in the employ of the state. I shall not resign as long as I feel sure that the party will not suffer. The attacks upon my administration have been inspired solely by men who have been disappointed in their quest for promotion."

The Fearless Fishermen.
ST. JOHNS, N. F., Oct. 3.—Two vessels, the Barlow and the Amazon, returning from Labrador laden with fish, were overtaken by the recent violent storm, and the crews, numbering 15 men, were all drowned. In the same gale the Blossom, another Labrador vessel, went to pieces and five men perished.

Terrible Snows in Montana.
RIDE, Mont., Oct. 3.—A terrible snow storm has been raging here for 48 hours. There is three feet of snow and business is suspended. A sudden thaw, which is more likely, will result in a great flood here.

Treves.—The city is fast being wiped of its holy coat of pilgrims. The exhibition has netted a large sum of money, but tourists are said to have been more profitable than the pilgrims, most of whom lived in poor fashion and seemed to have but little money.

London.—Princess Beatrice, youngest daughter of Queen Victoria and wife of Prince Henry of Battenberg, has been delivered of a son.

Indianapolis.—International Cigar-makers' strike benefit from $4 to $5 per week.

New York.—Joseph Barondess, ex-king of the cloak-makers, who jumped his bail of $5000 for his appearance on next Monday on the charge of extortion made against him, is arrested in Montreal on a ship about to sail for England.

New Haven.—The condition of ex-Governor Robert B. Bigelow, who was suddenly stricken with rheumatism of the heart Thursday evening is not improving. His physicians give little hope.

A Girl for the Cause.
MACON, Ga., Oct. 3.—Two young men named Branson and Williamson, attended a dance Thursday night. They quarreled over the affection of a girl named Jones and adjourned to the front porch, where they began a duel with long-bladed knives. After several bloody rounds had been fought the combatants were separated. Neither can live.

After "Shake-You-the-Dice" People.
Henry Haskins, agent of the Humane society, will from now on keep his eye open for the peanut vendors and others who shake dice with the boys to see who pays for the peanuts. Those who are educating the small boys in gambling will be promptly arrested if he can discover them.

English World's Fair Commissioners Believe the Fair Will Unite the Nations.

It Will Bring the English-Speaking
Peoples More Closely Together Than Ever.

Their Own Country Will be Represented on an Unusually Grand Scale.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—Sir Henry Wood and James Dredge, the World's fair commissioners from Great Britain, are in Washington en route for New York, whence they will sail for Europe on Wednesday next.

In an interview Mr. Dredge said they were thoroughly pleased and satisfied with all that had been done to promote the fair. They considered that it would be in its scope, management and execution the greatest exposition ever given. Mr. Dredge says he feels certain that the site selected for the English administrative building will be occupied by a structure that will do England credit.

"I think," said he, "one grand result of the fair will be to bring about a stronger sentiment of good feeling between these countries. If prejudice now exists in any form on either side it is the result of ignorance. The exposition will banish ignorance; it will cause the people of both governments to understand each other better, and which they know one another as they really are, the best of feeling will naturally exist."

IGNORES ENGLAND.

A Canadian Chinaman is Sent, Despite Protest, to China.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—The President has directed that Chong Sam, a Chinaman, be deported to China as the country "whence he came." In taking this action the President upholds the practice of the treasury department and ignores the protest of the British government.

The facts in the case are these: Chong Sam, a Chinaman resident in Canada, entered the United States on July 1, 1891; was arrested at Port Huron for being unlawfully in the United States; found guilty of being in the country and sentenced to be deported to China as the country whence he came. In accordance with this decision Secretary Foster directed that Chong Sam be sent to San Francisco for deportation to China. Pending the carrying out of this order the British minister asked that action be deferred so that he could institute an investigation as to whether or not Chong Sam, being a resident of Canada, was not entitled to the protection of the British government.

As a result of this investigation the British minister asked that Chong Sam be pardoned. This the president refuses and directs that he be returned to China.

FEED MILL BURNS.

The Star Elevator and Mill Totally Destroyed by Fire.

The grain and feed elevator of Gude Bros., on the railway tracks at Fourth avenue east, was burnt to the ground last evening. No cause is assigned for the fire, though it is supposed that the friction of the belts had something to do with it. The building was worth $12,000 and the grain stored in it was worth $25,000. The stock, consisting of small grain and fuel, was valued at $2000, making a total loss of $18,000. This was partially covered by $2000 insurance.

The alarm was rung in about 6:45 o'clock and at that time the flames were bursting through the iron roofing. The fire department responded quickly, but arrived too late to save the building, for it was dry as a cinder box and every bin was a fuse. After burning about three-quarters of an hour the building fell over on the tracks. It was a grand sight and there were thousands there to witness it.

The elevator contained an excellent dryer and facilities for cleaning and otherwise raising the grade of wheat had just been provided for. Gude Bros. had equipped the building with rolls and meat bins, had made arrangements to dry grain, and were about to do a lively fall business. Gude Bros. bought the building a year ago. The water pressure was poor.

BEGAN AT SUNDOWN.

The Jewish New Year, Number 5652, Has Commenced.

Last evening at sundown began the Jewish new year No. 5652. Today and Sunday will be observed as new years. Religious services and festivities will be held by Duluth Jews and most of the Jewish stores in the city are closed today.

From the beginning of their year until about the 15th of the month there is a number of holidays. Only two, however, are observed by American Jews, the new year and the day of atonement. These two holidays are the most important in the Jewish calendar. The day of atonement begins at sundown Sunday, Oct. 11, and lasts 24 hours. It is observed by fasting. On the 17th of this month opens the feast of tabernacles and on the 24th the shmini atzereth. Passover is observed April 12.

Last evening the young people of English Baptist church met at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Billson and reorganized their society as a Y. P. S. C. Endeavor. There was a good attendance. The following officers were chosen: President, W. G. Crosby; vice president, Miss Amy George; secretary, Miss Mary J. Carey; treasurer, Miss Ella Barrows.

This evening will be the close of the German catholic bazaar in the Hayes block. Amusements for the young people will be varied and interesting. Contests for a silver cleaver, a silver water pitcher, a silver-covered album and Father Kosner's picture will form an interesting part of the program. The bazaar has been well attended throughout.

P. J. Dow & Co. this morning applied to the building inspector for inspection of his new water meter. Mr. Dow says that the first month after the meter was put in his water bill was 80 cents, and in the two succeeding months the rate was $1 and $1.50. Then it jumped to $15. A short time ago a butcher's shop in the building was cut off and the bill ran up to $16. It would seem in the face of these facts the council would furnish the apparatus necessary to inspect meters.

The Unity club will discuss "Washington Irving. His character and works" at the Unitarian church next Monday evening at 8 o'clock p. m. E. C. Jones and Miss Emma Johnson will lead the discussion.

How the Situation Looks.
John H. Davis & Co. telegraphed their October market circular to O. C. Hartman & Co. here as follows: The market was strong and healthy when our last circular was issued, and strong and healthy it is now. It has increased and a broadening tendency developed in the intervening month. There was then a possible danger for a portion of the corn crop; the phenomenally warm September weather removed that danger. It is certain that our leading crops will be beyond all precedent in amount. It is equally certain that all Europe will require the surplus over our domestic consumption and at remunerative even high prices.

There have been times when the very exuberance of our corn crop has impoverished farmers who had expended 20 cents worth of labor in raising the bushel which netted but 15 cents. No such poverty in the face of plenty menaces them today.

All the channels of industry are quickened. The trade of our leading cities shows heavy gains over last year. That barometer of the business atmosphere—the iron trade—shows a high register of activity and demand. Money is active but not scarce, and current rates are far more favorable to the growth of the country and to business activity than an abnormally low rate would be because they indicate profitable experience of capital in manufacturing and trade and the increasing business of the exchanges. Gold is coming back to us from Europe and much more will come in exchange for our cotton and breadstuffs which are yet to be shipped. Our railways, from the moving of the prodigious crops and the influence of the World's fair, are sure of tonnage for two years. The substantial prices assured for agricultural products will deprive farmers alliances of their theories. Foreign capitalists, grown wise by the experience of past years, will invest in the one country whose securities they can sell when they must have cash. The people are gradually and surely learning the facilities which underlie the free silver coinage scheme; there is a fair chance that not only will that scheme fail, but that of July, 1890, may be repealed.

Never in all its history has this country had a fairer or a firmer foundation for hope and confidence. Whether under good or bad management our railways are bound to have increased traffic and less fear from adverse legislation. The stock market is, therefore, rightfully and logically improved.

Dun's review is also favorable, and says that in every line the outlook is bright. Failures for the week number for the United States 201 and Canada 29, or a total of 230, as compared with totals of 244 last week and 230 the week previous to the last. For the corresponding week of last year the figures were 197, representing 166 failures in the United States and 31 in the Dominion of Canada.

WANT THEIR CASH.

Depositors in Three Large Savings Banks Stand in Line for Their Cash.

The Banks Are Solid, but the Late $500,000 Failure Scared the Depositors.

Wreckers Remanded to Jail and a Receiver Appointed for the Ulster.

KINGSTON, N.Y., Oct. 5.—Many people came into town by rail and wagon this morning from all directions to see about their deposits in the three savings banks, as a result of the great failure Saturday.

Those having deposits in the Kingston Savings bank and the Rondout Savings bank will have to wait 60 days to find out whether they can draw their money or not, as both those concerns have posted notices taking advantage of the law in that respect. Crowds of depositors are in line at each bank with books in hand waiting their turn to give notice of withdrawal. The managers hope, however, to be able to restore confidence by showing the sound condition of the institutions. The managers hope, however, to be able to restore confidence by showing the sound condition of the institutions. The managers hope, however, to be able to restore confidence by showing the sound condition of the institutions.

It is reported from New Plattsburgh that runs are threatened on savings banks at those places. The 60 days' notice will be demanded if funds occur there.

Ostrander and Trumbour were arraigned today and withdrew their demand for an examination on the charges of wrecking the Ulster County Savings institution. They were remanded to jail to await the action of the grand jury. N. Brodhead has been appointed temporary receiver of the institution with a bond of $250,000. An injunction has also been granted restraining depositors and creditors from attaching the assets.

The crowds around the banks and the court house were somewhat excited, but no outbreak occurred. A large force of sheriffs and police was on duty.

CHICAGO, Oct. 5.—A boiler explosion aboard the tug Parker killed seven persons and seriously injured many others. The tug in company with three other tugs, were engaged in towing the tug steamer Pickands out of the harbor when the bridge when the explosion occurred.

Three of the killed were employees of the tug and their bodies have not yet been recovered. The other persons killed were standing on the banks of the river. The list of killed is as follows: James S. Carter, captain; John C. Moore, engineer; Samuel Armstrong, of Manitowish, cook; Mrs. Mary Rice, 3013 Archer avenue; Barbara Rice; Samuel Sawyers, laborer; an unknown.

The explosion is believed to have been caused by the use of the dirty and greasy water of the river in the tug's boilers.

SEAL ARE PLENTY.

There is no Danger of Extinction of the Saquee

OTTAWA, Ont., Oct. 5.—Professor James Macoun, of the Canadian geological survey, who accompanied the British commissioners to Bering sea, writing to the government officials here, says the commissioners were astounded to note that the seals, having been hunted by the United States representatives to suppose that the seals were almost exterminated. At St. Lawrence Island fully 200,000 seals were in sight.

Macoun implies that the commissioners will suggest the setting apart for all time to come of half a dozen places in Bering sea exclusively for seal breeding purposes and that then there will be no danger of extermination.

To Protect the Seal.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—Orders were telegraphed from the treasury department today for the revenue cutter Rush, now at San Francisco to return to the seal islands and to remain there till Dec. 1. There are many poaching vessels in Bering sea. It will take the Rush about ten days to reach the seal islands.

INFESTED BY ROBBERS.

Robberies and Murders Frequent in East Grand Forks.

EAST GRAND FORKS, Minn., Oct. 5.—The series of robberies, assaults and general acts of lawlessness of the past two months culminated in the murder of Justice of the Peace Robert Woods, who was slain yesterday morning lying on a street crossing with a wound in his head. Four robberies besides the murder of Woods have been committed in the last 24 hours and the people are in a state of great excitement. There is no clue to the robbers.

A Life For a Life.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—Residents in the neighborhood fear that the killing of Hannegan by Thornton Haines will result in further bloodshed. The father of young Hannegan lives at No. 114 Connecticut avenue and his son's slayer frequently passes his house. The sight of Haines throws Mr. Hannegan into a rage, but the young man does not seem to care for that, and while passing at one time caught sight of the bereaved father in a window and smiled mockingly at him. It is said that Hannegan attempted to kill Haines on last Friday on the street.

To Extradite a Pennsylvania Defiant. HARRISBURG, Pa., Oct. 5.—It has become known that Governor Pattison and other state officials are arranging to secure the extradition of Wm. Livesey, the missing ex-cashier of the state treasury, whose evidence is wanted by the investigating committee, and who is generally believed to be in Canada. It is said that the matter is in the hands of the attorney general.

Smoked Her Last Smoke.

WILMINGTON, Del., Oct. 5.—Mrs. Hannah Evans, aged 42, was burned to death yesterday at her home on East Thirtieth street. Her clothing caught fire while she was lighting a pipe.

GLADSTONE'S BAD RECORD.

His Old Love for the Confederacy Hurting Him Now.

LONDON, Oct. 5.—Tory speakers and newspapers continue their rabid comments on Gladstone's Newcastle speech and still make as their most salient point the fact that he once advocated the cause of the Southern Confederacy. Mr. Russell, the well-known Irish unionist, is quoted as saying:

"Gladstone is no doubt as sincere now in advocating the disunion of Great Britain and Ireland as he was advocating disunion for America and he is just as incapable of seeing the consequences now of what he advocates as he was in the years of the American North and South. He is perfectly willing to place at the mercy of the Irish disunion majority the loyal minority that have always been faithful to Great Britain. What he means by saying that it is now a question with dealing with the Irish people nobody can understand but himself. It has never been anything else and the Irish people today would be content and filled with indignation for the utterances of men like Gladstone."

Mr. Russell said that Gladstone had now taken disunion for his personal policy, and wished to cram it down the throats both of liberals and Tories.

UP A SHAFT.

Flames Out Off Retreat and Burn Four to Death.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—A fire occurred in the 5-story tenement house at the corner of Hudson and Dominick street shortly after 2 o'clock this morning. All the occupants except a few persons were rescued with difficulty.

Wm. Murphy, wife and two children occupied the fifth floor. Mrs. Murphy climbed through the top door to the roof, her clothing being in flames. There she burned slowly to death. Josephine Ryan, a 5-year-old child who was visiting the Murphy family, burned in her bed. Two step-children of the Murphy's, Martin and Touhey, were severely burned. The recovery is doubtful. The fire started in a wood shed in the basement, and quickly igniting the gas meters, the flames rushed up the stairway to the top floor, where the Murphy family lived.

The Day's Fires. Baltimore—Elevator A of the Baltimore & Ohio system was destroyed by fire, together with all the machinery and 135,000 bushels of wheat. Loss, $25,000. Indianapolis—Fire destroyed the Van Camp Packing company's works. Total loss, $200,000; $140,000 insurance.

London—A fire on Mark Brown's wharf was subdued only after the flames had burned out a big 4-story warehouse filled with colonial and East India produce.

RUN MRS. LESLIE'S BUSINESS.

She Marries an Englishman Who Will

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—The marriage service of Mrs. Leslie and Mr. Wilde, which was that of the Episcopal church, was performed by Dr. Deems in the church of the Strangers. The only witnesses were Marshall Willard, the humorist, and Mr. Cramer, a publisher, and his wife. Mr. Wilde, who is on the staff of the London Daily Telegraph, is the eldest son of the late Sir Wm. Wilde, M. D., of Dublin, and a brother of Oscar Wilde, the well known aesthetic. He has known Mrs. Leslie for some years. It is understood Mr. Wilde will remain in this country and enter into the editorial work of the Leslie publications.

TO POOL RICE MILLS.

The Standard Oil Said to be Going into

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 5.—A movement is on foot to buy up all the rice mills of the South and throw them into a pool. The Standard Oil company and English capitalists are supposed to be behind the enterprise. Between $10,000,000 and $20,000,000 will be required, and the working capital will be $10,000,000. Half of this will be put at the disposal of the managers and the other $500,000 will be held in reserve. Options have been secured on the mills at Savannah, New Orleans, Charleston and Wilmington.

DR. BRIGGS AGAIN.

The Formal Trial of the Now Noted Heretical Presbyterian Instructor Begins.

He Wins Today in the Opening Shuffle Before the New York Presbytery.

Which is Evidently Somewhat Inclined Toward His View of the Case.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—The New York presbytery assembled for the fall session today. The case of Dr. Briggs, of the Union Theological seminary, accused of heresy, will come before the body. The indictment against him charges violation of the vows of ordination taken upon his becoming a Presbyterian minister. "Utterances of Dr. Briggs during the present year, and quotations from his works alleged to be contrary to the confession of faith, are cited as specifications."

Dr. Briggs will conduct his own defense. The presbyterian church the rule is that the accused shall be interpreter of his own words, and if any expression or word has two meanings, the milder meaning must be taken. The presbytery exercises functions similar to those of a grand jury in passing upon indictments of a judge in deciding disputed questions in a trial and of a petit jury in the rendering a verdict.

The attendance was large. Rev. John C. Bliss, pastor of the Washington Heights Presbyterian church, was chosen moderator instead of the liberal nominee. Friends of Dr. Briggs formally presented its report, embodying the charges against him. They were laid over. Dr. George Alexander soon moved to suspend the regular order that he might present a resolution in the Briggs matter. This caused excitement, but the moderator decided the motion in order. Chairman Birch, of the Briggs prosecuting committee, gave notice of an appeal to the synod. Dr. Alexander said his proposed resolution was to discharge the committee from further consideration. Friends of Dr. Briggs protested that this was equivalent to trial by speeches and not by evidence.

The report of the prosecuting committee bases the accusation against Dr. Briggs solely on his utterances in the inaugural address, deeming this the most important of his declarations. It is very voluminous and backs up the charges and specifications with minutiae. The committee has also decided to limit its charges to a few departures from the teachings of the scriptures, which are fundamental to the whole discussion, without admitting that Dr. Briggs' teachings in regard to miracles, the nature of sin, etc., are not also departures from orthodoxy.

After recess Dr. Alexander withdrew his motion, but announced that he would offer a resolution to discharge the committee as soon as his report had been read. The report of that committee was then read by Dr. Birch.

A Miser is Dying and His Relatives Hungry for Spoil.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Oct. 5.—Daniel McCormick, a miser, is dying in a dilapidated tenement house on North Second street. He cannot live 12 hours. Around his bedstead stand his friends and two relatives, vainly endeavoring to persuade the old man to tell where he has hidden $7000 that is known to be in his possession. He is 70 years of age. For two months he has eaten nothing and his body is so wasted that the bones almost stick through the skin. He served through the war in the Fourth regiment, and several years ago received a pension with back pay amounting to $8000. Since that time he has spent nothing, and has kept the money buried. When he was taken sick, $7000 of it was found inside of his underclothing.

He had two revolvers and a map of Clinton county, all of which would indicate that he had assistance not only in but outside the prison as well.

The Mormons Confident.

SALT LAKE CITY, Oct. 5.—The semi-annual conference of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints began in the tabernacle yesterday. About 10,000 of the Mormon faith were in attendance. Jos. F. Smith, nephew of the prophet of that name, was present for the first time in several years, having been pardoned by President Harrison. He has been an exile on account of an indictment for polygamy. Wilford Woodruff, Jos. F. Smith and Geo. Q. Cannon, the three presidents of the church, delivered addresses. They thanked President Harrison for pardoning President Smith, and invoked the blessing of the saints upon him. The belief was expressed that the church was soon to triumph over its enemies. The meeting lasts three days. Today and tomorrow will be taken up in business matters.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—The capture of a Toronto and New York man and two Chinamen, whom they were apparently smuggling into the country at Niagara Falls, has led to the discovery of a conspiracy, presumably with a United States marshal, to bring Chinamen over the line and have them captured for the sake of the fees. Under recent rulings the courts send the Chinamen back to Canada and the same batch of Celestials can be run across again inside of an hour if desired.

THE TUB OF THE MASTER.

In the New York Times of Sunday appeared a three-column letter from its Washington correspondent, who has lately taken in the upper lakes and Duluth. It is a calm and dispassionate view of the situation, review of the past and a prophecy for the future of the cities at the head of the lake. Abounding in figures, it is yet interesting and entertaining. The Herald gives below some of its salient points and a condensation of others, not having space to print the entire letter:

As you sail toward the end of Lake Superior you come to a city set upon a hill. If you are a stranger you are apt to be enthusiastic about the beneficence of nature in providing at this point so peculiar and fine a harbor, and next you cannot fail to admire the enterprise that has raised the terraces of buildings that rise almost to the hilltop, making the city distinctly unlike any other in the country. At no place except Bar Harbor do the land and water come together in the same way—the high land sloping abruptly into the water and affording an unimpaired view. Until you get ashore you imagine that Duluth must be proud of its commanding position. Then you find it has been so constantly held up to derision by its rivals as the home of the "cliff dwellers," so consistently reproached by envious and low spirits towns, that her very elevation has made Duluth so sensitive that references to its height must be made with discretion, and that there is danger of apology for something of which the people ought to be justly proud.

The rivalry between Duluth and its over-the-bay neighbor, the two towns being, however, as the correspondent shows, is essential to each other's growth, is touched on rather severely. A remedy is suggested, which is that the two cities give over the feelings of jealousy, and indulge, moderately at least, in a spirit of mutual admiration, for which there is, to say the least, abundant room on both sides the bay. Census figures are given, with the remark that Superintendent Porter was more likely to be open hearted in Wisconsin than in Minnesota, and figures of the tremendous commerce of the cities are also given. These are so familiar to Duluthians that they need not be reproduced here.

Duluth is as yet only partly formed, but it occupies much space. It is called six miles from one end of it to the other. Over a stretch of two miles it is rather compactly built for a town in which property is held so high to permit men of modest capital to live in detached houses with ample space about them for grass and trees. It lies on a hillside, and a good deal of the hillside is steep and rocky. A point of view pushes into the town about midway the most densely-populated section. It stopped one of principal streets parallel to the lake front, compelling all traffic to climb a hill or get around it. It was an illustration of the indomitable spirit of the community that this rocky barrier was attacked and won. Until you get ashore you imagine that Duluth must be proud of its commanding position. Then you find it has been so constantly held up to derision by its rivals as the home of the "cliff dwellers," so consistently reproached by envious and low spirits towns, that her very elevation has made Duluth so sensitive that references to its height must be made with discretion, and that there is danger of apology for something of which the people ought to be justly proud.

The rivalry between Duluth and its over-the-bay neighbor, the two towns being, however, as the correspondent shows, is essential to each other's growth, is touched on rather severely. A remedy is suggested, which is that the two cities give over the feelings of jealousy, and indulge, moderately at least, in a spirit of mutual admiration, for which there is, to say the least, abundant room on both sides the bay. Census figures are given, with the remark that Superintendent Porter was more likely to be open hearted in Wisconsin than in Minnesota, and figures of the tremendous commerce of the cities are also given. These are so familiar to Duluthians that they need not be reproduced here.

The spirit of improvement is manifest everywhere. It is seen in many buildings that would be worth a half-dozen of the "cliff dwellers." These all tell of capital in abundance and confidence established. The principal streets are paved and are clean. The buildings put up in 1890 were valued at $6,500,000. Most of this large amount went into the left business blocks that line the principal streets, but a considerable share of it is in tasteful villas on the pretty terrace.

The terrace drive, boulevard and park system come in for their share of high praise, and the fascinating picture from the terrace is deftly painted. Then the dock and elevator system is spoken of in its description, the work of the educators and the new high school is referred to at length, and some statistics of business and banking are given. Closing the more than two columns on Duluth is the following exceedingly sensible conclusion:

Proctor Knott's deservite speech did not make Duluth. The opposition of the West Superior loomer cannot unmake or reduce its growth. Superior may and probably will have a larger share of the railroad business, the actual presence of the locomotives and the cars, a large population of working people, and a considerable share of the shipping for years, but to men who choose between a mud flat and a high and dry site for their offices and homes, Duluth is sure to be the preferred home, as it is now the counting room for the business of Duluth as well as much of that of West Superior.

Mr. Dunnell then turns his attention to West Superior in a full column portrait. He sketches briefly its inception by Eastern capitalists, who incorporated for everything in sight, tells of early struggles and of subsequent success, and its tax list of $170,000 on $10,000,000 valuation. Its rail facilities and civic growth are also sketched briefly. He gives some statistics and adds:

When you go to West Superior, if you can get away from your guide, you will find that out of the principal street the town is so raw as if it were just out—no really is. It is a magical city, for in the place where five years ago there was nothing but forest and swamp, there are now more than 11,000 inhabitants, property valued at $10,000,000, docks from which are shipped cargoes valued at $25,000,000 in a year, railroads that bring grain from the vast Northwest, banks that never let their capital rest a minute, and behind all this a power of bustling that has conquered this city out of the wilderness with something of the swiftness but none of the ease of the prehistoric titmouse. West Superior is a forest town. That is not to its discredit, however, and it is greatly to the credit of men of spirit and determination who did the forcing. It might be called the city of the Land and River Improvement company. Looking through the names of the importers and managers of banks, the mills, the steel and iron works, and other industrial undertakings, it is found that the company has not lost sight of its opportunities. There are some serviceable buildings, but there are few that challenge remark for architectural proportions and none that are remarkable for beauty. It is not yet time, for in many of the streets the stumps are still standing. Everywhere there are builders at work, with their materials in pools of standing water, and with the blackened stumps peeping up among the timbers or bricks.

Throughout the article is temperate and just. It appears as one of a series on the traffic and interests of the great lakes and can not but be of very considerable advantage to this section.

Not very long ago a prominent journal of Manchester visited the English-Isle for the American coach by a lengthy description of the discomforts of travel in a Pullman palace car. The car was described as reeking with filth, ily ventilated and devoid of all privacy, while passengers are subjected to the greatest annoyances from peddlers of every description. The very mixed character of the passengers on the car was also dilated upon at length, so that the general impression likely to be conveyed to the average English reader would doubtless be that a journey in an American palace car should be about the last thing in the world for the average tourist to attempt. It will be a pleasure therefore, for the Manchester Journal to shortly correct its views, as a very considerable quantity of American car equipment is now on its way to England for use on prominent railways.

Talking about coal, the coal dealers of Superior—and we don't know but in Duluth also—have a lead pipe pinch on the trade. No man can sell coal in Superior unless he joins an association, and puts up $100 as a forfeit not to sell for a cent less than the stipulated price. Contrary to all other lines of trade, it makes no difference whether you buy one ton or a hundred tons, it is all one price, $7 per ton. This gives the coal dealers of Superior a clear profit of $2 per ton, and is a clear case of "combine" to rob the people, and ought to be punishable by law as a misdemeanor, at least.

The Minneapolis Journal says that "Minneapolis is today paying more for wheat than any other market in the United States, and has done so, and yet the organs are crying out that the farmer is being stripped of his hard earnings because of combines. This is simply rot, and if the farmer or the shipper will study the situation for a few moments right where he stands he can see the lie himself." "What the Journal means by 'rot' and 'lie' the farmer can readily see by a comparison of Duluth prices with those of Minneapolis. Ours are steadily higher.

Duluth real estate transfers, published today, foot up fairly well—$553,000. Of this total, however, a large share is for iron lands on the West Mesabi, sold a year or more ago by A. M. Miller to the North Star and subsidiary iron companies. Probably if monies of the Duluth & Winnipeg road and the North Star Construction company had not gone into these lands, the road would be further along today than it is.

The advancement of high merit is always pleasing. Particularly so is the promotion of Superintendent F. S. Wardwell, of the Duluth Street Railway company, to the position of general manager. Mr. Wardwell is a progressive street railway man and he will do all in his power to increase the efficiency of the Duluth lines, which are now among the best in the country.

The Irish-Americans have finished their convention in Chicago, the Swiss-Americans, the German-Americans, the Polish-Americans and the Afro-Americans have big celebrations last month. We still believe that a convention of American-Americans would help to count the few of us who are left.

A Milwaukeean, who has made money for his city and by its growth, E. D. Holton by name, has just given $40,000 to the college of that city and $30,000 to Ripon college. Nobody has ever heard of any of the millionaire Duluthians giving any money to endow colleges, or even establish public institutions in their own city.

Duluth is proud of her position as queen of the lake, her brow set with the coronet of the terrace and studded with the parks as with jewels. Her people are proud of the title of "cliff dwellers" and have no cause to regret their baptism.

We've got a Duluth disease and a Duluth presbytery and now we're to have a Duluth Methodist district. The churches recognize that Duluth is great.

GEORGE has, thanks to the alliance majority in his legislative district, a tax levy since 1864. In that year it was struggling to keep the clockwork going.

Dr. W. H. W. "corner" seems to have put him in a merely temporary "hole." He is now looking for the man who stepped on his corn.

MR. KEELEY, whose motor doesn't move, and Rainmaker Melbourne, who shows himself in a henhouse, must show down or go.

SEEN AND HEARD.

"That additional 6 of a mill state tax that we are obliged to pay the coming year," said Assessor Cooley, "is due to the rule of the farmer. The alliance people increased the expenses of the house and senate to a considerable degree and made several unnecessary appropriations, so that there was a deficit this year instead of a surplus. The farmers are not a success as legislators; because they want to own the land, raise the wheat, sell it, sell it to the consumer, run the railroads and run the government. They try to do too many things."

"It would be hard to predict what changes will take place in the industrial world before the advent of the Twentieth century," said a Duluth electrician. "Before 1900 electricity may revolutionize everything. The world is already traveling pretty lively, but it looks as if it were going to be made to travel much faster. Improvement follows improvement. One year a machine is sold that is in every way superior to anything of the kind and does the work with half the number of men; the following year an automatic machine is put on the market to do the same work. Every returning year brings changes; and while it looks now as if little or no improvement could be made on our present machinery, there is no doubt that it will be regarded as clumsy by Twentieth-century people, and discarded to make room for better."

It may not be generally known that Board of Public Works President Truelson is a literateur as well as a builder of bridges and streets, but such is the case. Just at present he is publishing the record of his European travels in the Volkfreund of this city, in the form of a continued story, in which he records his experiences and impressions, interspersed with chunks of sturdy Anglo-Saxon philosophy. Henry's urbanity of manner always did put him under the suspicion of being a newspaper man and this confirms it.

Oliver Dalrymple, of North Dakota, big bonanza farmer, said the other day that he had not sold his wheat yet though he was shipping it fast. He believes that prices will go up before they will go down. He said that he was not interested in the proposed establishment of an elevator by North Dakotans at Superior. He sends his wheat direct to Buffalo via Duluth. He is satisfied with Minnesota inspection, because it is known all over the world, and is about as nearly perfect as a system can be made. And he thought the Minnesota inspection and Duluth's market too firmly established to be at all affected by a second filled board of trade at Superior.

AN ATTRACTIVE PLAY.

"The Waifs of New York" a Pro-nounced Success Elsewhere. Commencing with the performance this evening at the Lyceum theater Katie Emmett will be seen in last season's successful comedy drama, "The Waifs of New York." One of the principal features of the play's success, is the truth of its character pictures. Persons who have studied life for the production is a city, find the characters in the play drawn from living models and embodying all the recognizable characteristics of well-defined types. Persons who have never penetrated the lowly side of life in a great city, and have no personal knowledge of the people mingled in this piece, nevertheless feel and appreciate the vitality of this representation, because truth in art requires no argument or explanation and carries its own convictions.

Miss Emmett's supporting company this season is much stronger than last. The scenery for the production is entirely new this season, and is a vivid panorama of New York city from the Battery to Central park. Amy Ames has a new specialty as Nellie Edmonds, a sprightly comedienne, will be heard in song in the concert scene, and, altogether, "The Waifs of New York" is the melodramatic attraction of the day.

Sundown.

(George Cooper, in Harpers Young People.)
New sky and wood and upland
Are drenched with crimson rain;
The mellow clink of cow-bells
Is coming up the line.
New arrows swirls, clucking,
Their circling courtesies hail;
While fuses snicker-snicker
Goes the milking pail.

New ducks come waddling homeward,
And geese in single file;
And chickens fly to branches,
Or to the end of a wire.
New bats leave barnyard crannies,
And flit about the eaves;
While swallows swoosh-swish
Goes the milking pail.

New katydid was tosy,
And ere it was "sleep"
And sudden sparks of fireflies
Flashed through the shadow deep.
New daisies grow the meadow,
And wild flowers grow the meadow,
And wild flowers grow the meadow,
And wild flowers grow the meadow.

Plenty of Chance for Writing.
Two Harbors News: A Duluth party has written a pamphlet for distribution in the East, showing how a systematic robbery of public lands is being conducted, and acquainting would-be settlers from that locality of existing conditions, that they may avoid the shoals. Whether he is doing this for the public weal, or has a lurking ambition for something bigger than a ward office, we do not know, but he has tackled the end of the bone on which there is plenty of meat.

NO MORE GAS MAINS.

The City Council's Light and Water Committee Will Report Adversely to the Proposed New Company.

It Believes the Present Duluth Charges Are Outrageous, But Thinks There's Another Remedy.

From Ten to Thirteen Million Dollars of Life Insurance Are Carried Regularly in Duluth.

The committee to whom was referred the ordinance granting to the new company the right to lay gas mains in the streets of the city will report adversely to the council tonight, according to the statement of a member of the committee in discussing the subject.

"We believe that the present rates are excessive and outrageous and the city, it is true, cannot lower them except by competition. But the ordinance provides that the new company shall have two years in which to complete its plant and I expect to see the city own a plant of its own by that time. A new plant? No, I think that the city will own the plant of the Duluth Gas and Water company. If the city is going to run a plant of its own there is evidently no sense in having another company come in and cut down its profits.

Those who are behind the new company do not look at it just that light. They argue that there is no assurance that the city will obtain possession of the present plant or that it will build a new one. This being so, the consumers of gas should have the benefit of all the competition possible.

INSURANCE IN DULUTH.

The Many Millions of Life Insurance Carried by Duluth Agencies.

"Yes," said an authority on life insurance, "the death of Mr. Emery and the fact that he carried $100,000 of life insurance have called the attention of business men and others to the great necessity of keeping well insured. While life insurance has for many years been looked upon as a thoroughly legitimate business it has been difficult to get some people to buy as much insurance as they should. But Mr. Emery's death has shown to many of those people that thinking and insurance men have consequently been doing a large business of late.

"In the life insurance field, as in many others, the rapid progress of Duluth during the past few years stands out very prominently. Why, young men, do you know that it's only three and a half years since the first exclusive agency in life insurance was established here? Previous to the spring of '88 life insurance was sold by people doing a real estate or a fire insurance business or both. Now we have quite a number of agencies handling nothing but life insurance. The larger part of the life insurance held here today has been written since '88. I estimate that from $800,000 to $1,000,000 of insurance is carried here today by old-line companies, and that probably more than that amount is carried by the co-operatives, a total of $1,000,000 to $1,500,000. Duluth has several men who are insured for $100,000 and a very large number from $50,000 to $75,000. I don't know of anyone in the Northwest doing with as much life insurance as Mr. Emery, unless I count in E. P. Allis, of Milwaukee, who carried over $500,000. But Milwaukee is hardly to be considered as in the Northwest.

"The wealthiest men are not the ones to carry the greatest amount of insurance as a rule. Most men who carry large insurance do so to protect their estates. That was Mr. Emery's reason, and he would have carried more had he lived. Up in this country where people speculate in lands and carry big mortgages it is very convenient for the estate to have cash in the event of the owner's death. Three years ago a Duluth lady was paid $4000 on the death of her husband, who notwithstanding that he had been doing a prosperous business, had left his estate insolvent. That $4000 kept her out of the hands of her friends. She invested it judiciously, and now has a handsome income from it and is able to lay up money. I was talking with a man only the other day who informed me that his father had insured $2000 of life insurance at the time of his death his estate could have realized $75,000 instead of going to the dogs, as it did."

THE SCHOOL BOARD.

It Fixes Its Financial Wishes for the Year: School Notes.

The most important work done by the school board Saturday evening was the levying of taxes for the year. The total levied of $230,000 will be apportioned as follows: $85,000 general fund; $130,000 building fund; $15,000 sinking fund. The appropriation for last year for Duluth proper was $103,000 and for West Duluth and the first and fourth districts of Oneota it was about $31,000, making a total of $229,000, so that the levy this year is less, considering the valuation, than a year ago. The board decided to hold a meeting next Saturday evening to consider bids for the $200,000 school bonds.

Several new teachers were appointed and it was decided to take $15,000 more builders risk insurance on the central high school. Several estimates were passed. Petitions for schools at Woodland and East Duluth were referred.

The schools still present a crowded condition, although pupils are not packed as badly as at the opening of the school year. The Franklin school contains more pupils than any other building in the city, having an enrollment of 536 scholars. The enrollment for last month was 4105. Of this 799 pupils are at West Duluth. Last year the enrollment without West Duluth was 2810, showing an increase in the city proper of 597.

Professor Denfeld has some figures on comparative cost of education. At Jackson, Mich., the cost per pupil is $20; at Kansas City, $19; Buffalo, $19; Duluth, $19.75, but some of these cities do not furnish text books. The Duluth cost is divided into text books, 53 cents; supplies, 73 cents; fuel, lights, janitors and incidentals, $1.52, and for tuition, $15.

Barker at His Old Tricks. That old offender, Capt. C. S. Barker, should be summarily dealt with by the United States authorities. Vesselmen report that in dredging out the mud to release the Iron King, he has been depositing it in the channel, which the government has been cutting at great expense.

A Methodist Duluth District.

One important piece of business to come from the Methodist state conference at Red Wing was the proposition to make a new district in the state to be known as the Duluth district, the territory to be taken out of the St. Paul district, and making five instead of four districts in the state. Rev. H. C. Jennings, of Red Wing, is spoken of as presiding elder of this new district.

SUES TO RESTRAIN.

Suit to Compel the Street Railway to Use Woodland Avenue.

W. E. Richardson has obtained through Ira B. Mills, of Moorhead, an interlocutory injunction restraining the Duluth Street Railway company from running its proposed new line to Woodland Park through lands in which Richardson has an interest. The railway people asked for the appointment of condemnation commissioners only Friday night. If Richardson loses on the final hearing it means the abandonment of the motor line through Highland Park and Clover Hill, in which properties he is interested.

The Cleveland Club.

CLEVELAND, Oct. 5.—The Cleveland League club is practically completed for 1892, the following contracts being on file: McAleer, Davis, Burkett, Young, Sheanon, pitchers; Teague, captain and manager; Childs, Virtue, Zimmer, Doyle will sign today. The club has also signed Cuyper, a promising young pitcher, and has come to terms with another youngster in an Ohio league. There is but little doubt that Jack O'Connor, catcher, will also play with the Cleveland's.

The Black Hawk War.

The study pioneers who occupied Northern Illinois and Southern Wisconsin for civilization 60 years ago often had the monopoly of frontier life broken by conflicts with the Indians. The last struggle of any importance in this section occurred in 1832, and is known to history as the Black Hawk War, the moving spirit of the savage outbreak being the noted Black Hawk, chief of the Sac and Foxes. Gen. Henry Dodge, afterwards senator from Wisconsin, was the leader in the pursuit which finally brought Black Hawk and his warriors and women and children, to bay near the mouth of the Bad Axe river, on the east bank of the Mississippi, in what is now Vernon county, Wisconsin. The sun of that second day of August, 1832, set upon a bloody field, and the result was the death of nearly all the braves and the abrupt close of the campaign. The chief himself escaped and died years after at his home near Rock Island, Ill. The locality of the battle is now marked by the village of Victory, so named from this engagement, situated on and reached only by the Chicago, Burlington and Northern R. R., the "Scenic line," which touches most of the historic spots in the upper Mississippi valley. For further information as to the attractions of the line, tickets, rates and maps call on your local agent or write to W. J. C. Kenyon, Gen. Pass. Agent, C. & N. R. R., St. Paul, Minn.

FOR PLEASURE ONLY.

The Park Commission Does Not Intend That Business Shall Interfere With Pleasure Along the Terrace.

It Will Pass a Regulation at Once Forbidding the Passage of Heavily Laden Business Vehicles.

Forrestal Matters Look Well for the Laborers But Bad for Supply and Material Men.

The park commissioners have their work cut out for them and will not be safe for any of their enemies to cross their path hereafter.

A week or so ago they notified Davis & Cooper that they must not draw loads of gravel along that part of the terrace drive running through Brookdale division and known as Bay View terrace, as the weight of the teams cut into the roadway and seriously injured it for pleasure driving, for which it was intended. Today the police arrested one of Davis & Cooper's drivers, but it was found that he could not be punished because there was no law that would cover the offense. He was therefore discharged.

The commissioners are not to be worsted a second time and so they will hold a special meeting this afternoon and a resolution (which they are allowed to do by the park act) imposing a fine for driving heavily loaded wagons over the terrace drive. City Attorney Allen is preparing the measure. It will be published tomorrow morning and the commission will see that its provisions are observed.

While the park board is making a fuss about this matter, it should have long before looked into another matter that is really worth serious consideration, especially as it could be righted with injury to none. For at least three months the crossing of the terrace at Piedmont avenue has been obstructed by broken rock, which a half dozen loads of gravel would have covered, remedying a great nuisance. The contractor should have been compelled to brace up long ago.

THE FORRESTAL LABORERS.

All Their Claims to be Paid and 10 per Cent of Others.

Assignee Voss has the Bell and Anderson matters down to a fine point and within the next 24 hours will fill his list of assets and liabilities. There are three contracts on which money is due from the city to Bell and Anderson. The one is Fourth street improvement and South street sewer while the third takes in the West Superior street improvement. First alley improvement and a fourth street sewer. The money due from the city foot up to $12,177.68, including final estimates on all three contracts and the 5 per cent held back on the sewer contracts. These figures are obtained after taking out $200 for a wall on Fourth street that must be built by the city.

The claims for labor foot up $18,315.89. Of this $12,025 is a claim put in by Martin Anderson, a Fourth street sub-contractor on paving. Anderson's claim heretofore has been to draw out his money in a lump and pay off his men himself. Now he sends in the individual claims. The court will have to decide whether this labor claim shall go in as a single claim or as several claims. As the law provides that labor claims up to $50 covering the time after June 27 shall be paid in full, but that all other labor claims must go in on the same basis as those for material, it is easy to see that the question of considering Anderson's claim as a whole or in small sums is of great importance to Anderson or his men. The other labor owed for by Trux & Co. on the Fourth and South street contracts amounts to $17,189.24. There are probably not over 25 labor claims in this list that amounts to over $50, but there is considerable that was owed before June 27 and that must come in with the claims for material. Mr. Voss says that the labor owed for before June 27 amounts to 11 cents on the dollar.

He Was Hot.

"It makes me mad to see young squirts of boys and girls wearing glasses. It's all tinsel nonsense," said an old gentleman from Tower who called to see J. H. Ostrander, the optician, at F. D. L.'s jewelry store. "You didn't see no such tomfoolery when I was a boy. Children was children in them days. They didn't try to look like their grandfathers. It's style that ails them, style! Nothin' but style. Why I saw a little girl on the main to-day, she was't a day over 7 years old, and she had a pair of specs perched on her assy little face. I felt like spankin' her and throwin' the glasses out of the window. My father never wore glasses till he was 50 past. Now, why don't people see just as well today as they did 50 years ago? Sixty years ago, replied Mr. Ostrander, "people lived and died with defective eyes who never dreamed of spectacles as a remedy. If a child was near sighted, he was called a fool and let go. If one had suggested glasses as a remedy for granulated lids he would have been thought crazy. We are correcting defects today which were considered hopeless 20 years ago. I know a man who went from Chicago to New York in 1865 to get a pair of astigmatic glasses ground. Today there is a score of opticians in Chicago, any one of whom could save him the journey. The optician has only recently learned that many cases of nausea, dizziness, nervous disorders, habitual headache, cross eye, squinting and a score of other disagreeable symptoms can be cured by the proper adjustment of glasses. The science of optics is keeping pace with the locomotive. Sixty years ago you would be satisfied to ride behind an ox team; this age must move faster."

The visible supply increase of 1,033,000 bu. was much smaller than was expected. On the 1st of September the visible supply was 1,317,000 bu. New York increased 236,000 bu., Milwaukee 78,000, Buffalo 403,000 bu., Toledo 176,000, Minneapolis 201,000 bu.

PROFIT BY HUNGER

Russian Corn Merchants Seek to Profit by the Starvation of the Poor.

Thousands Dying in the Baku Districts While the Famine Grows More Severe.

Encouraging Reports of English Harvests are Abandoned Because of Poor Returns.

LONDON, Oct. 6.—St. Petersburg newspapers denounce the conduct of merchants and noblemen for seeking profit from their stores of corn while peasants are starving. A strong appeal to the government is made by the press to remove the edict prohibiting the export of rye, and to substitute therefor a heavy tax on the exportation of all cereals.

Reports from the Baku district and elsewhere are to the effect that thousands of persons are dying of starvation. The distress is growing more terrible all over the famine-stricken territory; and reports of cannibalism by parents of their children, are so frequent as to demand belief. It is stated on excellent authority that the Russian government is considering, and will shortly promulgate an edict prohibiting the export of wheat or wheat flour. It is possible a very heavy tax will take the place of the prohibition. It is apparent that the estimates made in England for an increase in the early figures of the wheat crop will have to be abandoned. There have been losses by sprouting and shelling which will reduce the yield very much.

A KING IS DEAD,
But He Was a Little King and Didn't Amount to Much.

STUTTGART, Oct. 6.—King Karl I, of Wurtemberg, is dead. His death occurred at 7 o'clock this morning. He had been ill for some time past, and yesterday his condition became so critical that extreme unction was administered to him.

Charles I (Charles Frederick Alexander), eldest son of William I, was born March 6, 1823, and succeeded to the throne June 25, 1864. He followed the policy of his father, the Schleswig-Holstein question and formed one of the minor states party in the diet. He on July 15, 1846, married a daughter of Nicholas I, late czar of Russia.

The heir to the throne is Prince Wilhelm, who will be Wilhelm II. He is a nephew of the late king, being the son of his sister Catherine and his cousin Frederick. There has been danger recently that the Americans who gained influence at the court of Wurtemberg some time ago would resume their sway, in which case, it is understood, the late king would have been forced to abdicate had not Queen Olga undertaken to prevent a recurrence of the scandals. The king since that time had been practically a prisoner in his apartments, as it was feared that he would escape from Stuttgart and go to Paris which would probably have resulted in a scandal or a catastrophe.

Not Our Mr. Henry.
LONDON, Oct. 6.—The Right Hon. Wm. Henry Smith, first lord of the treasury, government leader in the house of commons, who was recently created lord warden of the Cinque ports, and who has been very ill for some time past, died suddenly this morning. A conference of physicians was hurriedly called, but it did no good and he expired at noon.

GROUND CAVES IN.
The Bottom Falls Out of a Large Area in Pennsylvania.

CARBONDALE, Pa., Oct. 6.—Nearly 200 acres of ground in the northwest quarter of this city under which Coalbrook colliery of the Delaware and Hudson company is tunneled, are in a state of turbulence and there is danger of one of the mines caving in. In the history of the coal regions, the 200 miners were ordered out and the company is awaiting results. The ground is heaving like a constant earthquake. From the inside the noise of the working, which at first was indistinct and did not presage any very serious trouble has become loud and sounds that are continuous and deafening reverberate through the mine.

Significance of "German Day."
SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 6.—The two days' celebration of the 20th anniversary of the landing of the Germans in America closed at an early hour this morning. Mayor Sanderson, in an address, with emphasis on the significance of the celebration, which showed in a twofold way, not only the German's quenchless love for fatherland, but his abiding patriotism for the country of his adoption.

A Prominent Lawyer Suicides.
ERIE, Pa., Oct. 6.—Hon. A. F. Bole, a prominent member of the Erie bar and a resident of Corry, suicided this morning by shooting himself through the head. He was a brother of Hon. Wm. Bole, who failed for a large amount a year ago, and it is thought that it weighed heavily upon the suicide's mind. Deceased had been mayor of Corry. He leaves a widow and one child.

The Kansas City Elects.
ST. PAUL, Oct. 6.—At the annual meeting of the directors of the Kansas City, St. Paul & Kansas City officers and the executive committee were elected. The present officials were re-elected and the executive committee is composed of the following: A. B. Stickney, chairman; W. Benson, A. Kalman, A. Oppenheim, J. W. Lusk, A. M. Drake, William Dawson and J. M. Egan.

London's Dock Strike Increases.
LONDON, Oct. 6.—The dock strike continues, the lighter men having joined the strikers, and work along the river is largely blocked. There were only a few trucks at work today under police protection.

Reciprocates With All the World.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—Negotiations are said to be in progress for freer trade relations between the United States and Germany. The removal of the pork embargo by Germany is said to have influenced the President to reciprocate in some way.

KICK AT JAYSON,

But Jayson is on Top Too High for Kicks to Reach.

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—The Times this morning says that a rumor prevails in Wall street that some Missouri Pacific stockholders are dissatisfied with Gould's management of that road, and that efforts are under way to organize a concerted movement on the part of the stockholders to depose Mr. Gould from the presidency and get control of the property. Gould himself said recently at a meeting that he did not own a majority of the stock in the road, and that if the stockholders became dissatisfied they could put him from control. Gould's methods in regard to the recent dividend which caused the stock to fall to per cent are said to have caused the discontent. Another rumor prevailed on the street yesterday that Samuel Sloan was so disgusted with Gould's methods that he proposed to withdraw from the directorate of the several corporations that Gould controls. Sloan maintains a grim silence as to his intentions.

CONNECTICUT TURNING.

The Democrats Lose in Many Municipal Elections Yesterday.

HARTFORD, Conn., Oct. 6.—The election in this city and surrounding towns yesterday was generally conducted in a quiet manner. The result shows no great change from last year except in the case of Waterbury, where the election proved a great surprise. Mayor Baldwin, democrat, is defeated. The republicans also captured the common council. Canton, Glassbury, Waterbury, West Hartford, East Canby, Bristol, Winchester and New Hartford went republican. Bloomfield, New England, East Hartford, Meriden and New Britain democratic.

The republicans of Ansonia say they will contest the election of all the dems, as the ballots used were, they say, not printed according to law.

Most of the republican offices here were captured by the democrats. The democrats elect the town clerk, the first selectman and a majority of the board of selectmen. The republicans elect their treasurer and registrar.

THE ASSOCIATION IN CHICAGO.

A Competing Team May Aid in Anson's Downfall.

CHICAGO, Oct. 6.—The News this morning says: There is no longer any doubt that Chicago will have an American Association club next year. The movement started by Manager Bannister and backed by Von der Ahe and other American association magnates, was never wholly a success, but for an unlooked for emergency, would doubtless have fallen through. This emergency was the conduct of the New York club in the last series in Boston, which enraged many ardent supporters of the local league club. It is said that Pfeiffer will be given the management of the team.

The Lads Are Kept at Government Schools Under Compulsion.

GUTHRIE, I. T., Oct. 6.—Two weeks ago Chief Justice Green decided that the government had no authority to take Indian children and put them in school without the consent of their parents, and ordered an Indian boy to be released from the Chillico school and restored to his parents in the Iowa country. The decision was taken under consideration by the interior department, and now Indian Commissioner Morgan announces that he will appeal the case and carry it up to the supreme court of the United States. The case is of the greatest importance, for if the government loses, every Indian school in the land will be emptied.

ORGANIZING IN THE TERRITORY.

TUSKAHOMA, I. T., Oct. 6.—The Choctaw council convened here yesterday. Wilbur Hampton was elected speaker. The governor's message will not be in until tomorrow or Thursday, as the organization of the two houses will not be completed until tonight.

IN A NUTSHELL.

Fairbury, Neb.—While attempting to ford the Little Blue river, Albert Hermann's wagon overturned. Mrs. Hermann and two children were swept away; the children were drowned. Mrs. Hermann died shortly afterward.

Berkeley, Va.—Thieves broke into the post office and carried off $800 in stamps. Wilbur Hampton was elected speaker. The governor's message will not be in until tomorrow or Thursday, as the organization of the two houses will not be completed until tonight.

Zawirke, Poland.—Owing to the famine workmen paraded the streets and robbed bakers' shops and other places. Troops fired on the rioters, killing one workman and wounding several.

San Francisco.—Judge Coffey will settle his final account as administrator of the estate of Mrs. Hopkins-Searles. He states the estate in California is valued at $500,000. The race will be for blood, and will be the trotting event of the season. Many improvements have been made at the park, and special trains will run from all directions.

Chicago.—Mrs. Archibald Brown, daughter of Chief Justice Fuller, is lying at the point of death with typhoid fever at her father's house.

The Great Grand Rapids Trot. GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Oct. 6.—Excitement over the great $10,000 trot between Nelson and Allerton next Thursday is on the increase. Nelson and his owner arrived Sunday night, and Allerton will be here today. The race will be for blood, and will be the trotting event of the season. Many improvements have been made at the park, and special trains will run from all directions.

An Irish Section. DUBLIN, Oct. 6.—The Dublin corporation has appointed a committee to inquire as to how it is possible to co-operate with other municipal and commercial bodies in Ireland, so as to obtain an Irish section in the Columbian exposition and as to how to financially assist the promoters in obtaining Irish exhibits for this purpose.

Madame De Boushau, the most celebrated French actress, has arrived and will remain for one week. Parlor at Foley block, opposite Windsor hotel, on Superior street, Duluth.

BOARD PROJECT

The Scheme for North Dakota Inspection at West Superior Sized Up.

A Member of the Fargo Board of Trade Tells How it Was Worked.

For George Walsh, Dakota Politician, and the Superior Real Estate Boomer.

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 6.—The Tribune today publishes the following special from Fargo:

"Our trip to Superior was a fizzle, as far as any practical result is concerned," said a member of the committee appointed by the board of trade to investigate the claims of the city at the head of the lakes to be the proper place for North Dakota farmers to ship their wheat. "We had a very pleasant little junket and were treated right royally. It is very easy in making a speech after a champagne dinner to outline a plan on paper by which Superior should become the exclusive outlet for North Dakota's 50,000,000 bushels of wheat, but it takes something more than speeches to build elevators and provide facilities for handling a crop like that."

"I went to see what advantages West Superior had, or were likely to have to offer over Duluth or Minneapolis as a shipping point for my crop. At present I found none, except on paper or in the imagination of interested parties. I found that they proposed that an elevator shall be erected at West Superior by a stock company which shall be composed partly of North Dakotans and partly of West Superior people. This, they say, will be run in the interests of the North Dakota farmer, and is to handle nothing but North Dakota wheat. The inspection is to be under the authority of the North Dakota railway commissioners, and the North Dakota farmer is to get 15 cents more a bushel for his wheat."

"Now, as I said before, this looks very nice on paper. In the first place I don't believe that any body of men are going to invest $500,000 in building elevators simply to benefit their fellow farmers. My experience has been that elevators are built and run to make money. I can see no reason to suppose that if another elevator is built at Superior it will run on any different plan. Chairman Walsh of the railroad commission, says that it will be run under the North Dakota inspection law, but that is merely thrown out to get the farmers into believing that Walsh is looking after their interests and would be a good man for governor next year. Walsh knows that a month ago Judge Caldwell exploded all that by his decision that the North Dakota inspection law only applies to inspection on grain for storage within the state, and that the commission has no more power to inspect grain in Superior than it has in Liverpool. Of course, nobody in North Dakota is going to object to people in Superior who like to erect another elevator, but I can see no reason why we should be expected to go down in our pockets to help build it."

"As an advertisement for West Superior our trip has been a success, but that is not all we accomplished, unless it was to give the politicians, like George Walsh, something with which to tickle up to the farmers into the idea that we were going to accomplish a great deal for their interests. My impression is that the scheme has served its purpose in these two ways, and that is all it is intended to do."

THE BURSTED BANKS.

Another Coal Region Bank Goes Down; General Distress Prevails.

CLEARFIELD, Pa., Oct. 5.—The situation here and at Houtzdale in regard to the burst banks is unchanged from yesterday. President Dill is still in jail but all efforts on the part of newspaper men to make the banks feel better by Cashier McGrath, of the Houtzdale bank, says the liabilities of that concern amount to $100,000 and there is every reason to believe that the depositors are well protected.

Jonathan Boynton, father-in-law of President Dill, president of the Phillipsburg Central bank and this connection probably created a feeling of unrest and suspicion, and the closing of the bank doors. The cashier states that he believes all deposits will be paid in full. Phillipsburg is only short distance from Clearfield and Houtzdale. Ever since the Clearfield bank closed and the Houtzdale bank failed, the Phillipsburg institution has experienced an unprecedented run. First the small depositors began an open onslaught but it was not until the heavy depositors began checking out that the elder cashiers of the center of the coal interests in this region, a great amount of cash is required daily, and unprecedented stringency is now reported. It is feared many private individuals and concerns will go down in the general crash that seems imminent.

New York Will Investigate.
NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—The management of the New York baseball club has decided, on account of the recent charges brought against it to the effect that the team had been purposely weakened in the recent Boston series, to make an immediate and full investigation and report the result of its inquiry on Oct. 12. The executive committee of the club, Messrs. Day, Talco, and Spalding will conduct the investigation.

Under Falling Walls.
INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 6.—While the firemen were at work in the Vancamp building this morning the east wall was jarred by a passing train and fell burying Wm. Smith, Wm. Mitchell, Richard Poland, David Butler and Walter Kerr in the ruins. As Kerr presided at his feet another train passed and he was struck again. Smith, Mitchell and Poland will die.

QUEEN VIC'S FORTY.

Radicals Even Object to the Queen's Having Grandchildren.

LONDON, Oct. 6.—The birth of a grandchild to the queen has given rise to a new crop of usual comments on the abundance of royal descendants. The radical newspapers generally give the little one a cold welcome. The Pall Mall Gazette prints a list of forty grandchildren of Queen Victoria and points out that there is comfort in the reflection that the succession is safe. This seems to be the only comfort tax-payers extract from the situation.

The baby will be no additional burden, for the present, to the British treasury. Battenburg and the Princess Beatrice already have a liberal allowance from parliament, and Beatrice besides, has the privilege of living on Queen Victoria's bounty, as she accompanies the queen everywhere. Battenburg, who is looked on as a mere appendage of the household, has been called the most unhappy man in Great Britain; but the assertion cannot be true, as ever since he married Beatrice he has had enough to eat, whereas in Germany he was in very precarious circumstances.

WHO ASKS HER IN?

Vancouver Announces She Will not Join the United States.

LONDON, Oct. 6.—Hon. J. H. Turner, minister of finance and agriculture of British Columbia, now in this city, announces that the government will accept $250,000 of the $500,000 offered by Mr. Goschen, chancellor of the exchequer, for the experiment for the settlement of Vancouver by crofters. Annexation to the United States, Mr. Turner says, has no place in the practical politics of the colony. The people are engrossed in the prosperity brought by the Canadian Pacific railway which is rapidly diverting trade from the United States into Canadian channels.

THE DAY'S FIRES.

Deadwood—The Greenwood gold stamp mill was totally destroyed by fire Sunday night. The mill was erected in 1884 at a cost of $150,000. The fire was the work of an incendiary.

Pittsburgh—Six cheap frame tenement houses at Braddock were destroyed by fire this morning. The flames were caused by a lamp explosion. James McGuire, aged 28, a laborer at the Edgar Thomson works, was burned to death.

Boston—A slight fire occurred in the three-story tenement house, No. 70 Nashua street, last night. A family of the name of Kelly, living in the upper story, became panic-stricken and jumped from the windows. The family consisted of the father and mother and two children, and all were hurt, the children fatally.

Brice Defends Campbell.

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—Senator Calvin S. Brice makes a downright denial of statements concerning him and Governor Campbell which have recently been published. Nearly all the statements are made upon the authority of one Ralph W. Wilkinson, who is called "a prominent Ohio politician and democrat." In the interview Wilkinson says that Governor Campbell is $500,000 in debt and declares that the governor lost the money in stock gambling. He also declares that Mr. Campbell owes Brice $100,000. Brice emphatically denies that Governor Campbell owes him money. He says the governor never speculated in his knowledge.

A Rift in the Railway Lute.

CHICAGO, Oct. 6.—Chairman Blandford, Goddard, Midgely and Walker yesterday received the greatest setback they have ever had. The Lake Shore, Michigan Central, Pennsylvania and Erie have refused to absolutely as the Burlington to enforce their order reducing divisions over the Illinois, Indiana & Iowa. Non-connecting lines declare that the Illinois, Indiana & Iowa buys its immense traffic with the almost double divisions it receives, and that they will drive it out of business if it costs millions and breaks up existing associations.

Rotten Royalty.

LONDON, Oct. 6.—Much feeling has been excited by the alleged attempt of the coroner to hush up the facts connected with the suicide of the Gaiety actress, Lydia Miller, who killed herself after the failure of Lord Charles August Montague to meet her according to appointments. Lord Charles is a brother of the duke of Manchester and an officer of Yeomanry cavalry. He is a favored companion of the duke of the duke of Clarence and Avondale, heir to the throne after the prince of Wales, who was also intimate with the girl.

Political Criminals Protected.

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—The Herald's Valparaiso special says: Campos Pedro, Admiral Jorge Montt's brother-in-law, is en route to Washington with important documents. It is alleged that grounds exist for criminal charges against several political refugees now stopping at the American legation, but that Minister Egan has never been officially notified of that fact.

Wait Till It Does.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Oct. 6.—The inter-oceanic railway with a capital of $7,000,000 has filed articles of incorporation. The road will run from a point in Crittenden county, on the Mississippi river opposite Memphis, across the state from east to west, to Hartford on the state line between Arkansas and the Indian Territory. The road will be 325 miles in length.

Killed in Collision.

STAPLETON, S. I., Oct. 6.—A wagon with four occupants, consisting of a man, woman and two children, was struck by a West-bound train of the Staten Island railroad this morning. The man and woman were killed and their bodies were picked up in a mangled condition.

Many Wrecks in the Irish Sea.

LONDON, Oct. 6.—Terrific gales prevail in the Irish sea and three wrecks have already occurred off Holyhead. Many exciting scenes have been witnessed as the life boat crews set out in the mid-mountainous waves to attempt the rescue of the imperiled crews of the wrecked vessels.

Miners May Be Rescued.

POTTSVILLE, Pa., Oct. 6.—Up to 10 o'clock today the Richardson colliery rescuing party had cleared away 12 feet of the closed-up gangway. There is no estimate of the amount of fall or definite knowledge of the whereabouts of the six buried miners as yet. They are probably alive.

Half a Year.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 6.—The Norwegian bark Europe which arrived yesterday from Hamburg had a stormy passage. During the trip which lasted 160 days three men died from disease and one was washed overboard.

R. H. BASSON, Observer.

A NEW BOARD OF TRADE.

Anent the proposition of certain enthusiastic West Superior and North Dakota men to establish a board of trade in Superior, a Fargo man, presumably, from the way he talks, included in the late junketing trip to Superior, says says some very pointed things in the Minneapolis Tribune, throwing cold water on the scheme. He sees no reason for another wheat market and fails to understand why a new elevator at West Superior would give North Dakota farmers any advantage in selling their wheat. Elevators are built and run, he maintains, to make money and not for philanthropic ends, and the combined Superior-farmer elevator across the bay would be no exception to the rule. He is right when he holds that as an advertisement of West Superior and as a mild political boom for George Walsh, the horn-handed, down-trodden farmer of North Dakota, the visits and banquets and newspaper articles have been a success.

The Herald has heretofore refrained from the discussion of the Superior proposition for a board of trade and hesitates to enter it now. There are one or two things to be said on the subject, however, that may be printed without arousing the unwholy wrath of our Wisconsin friends. That a board of trade in Superior would add somewhat to that city's prestige may be conceded. So may be the fact that if her people will put up their money in sufficient quantities and back it by their unremitting energies for a series of years a moderately successful board may be established.

A board of trade and a wheat market come not from the location of large elevators, but from the presence of grain dealers commanding large capital, and from years of business. Duluth found it slow work to build her board of trade to an acknowledged position, and Duluth had the help of the grain trade in other cities and was without opposition in this immediate neighborhood. The Duluth board is established and is known the world over, as the wheat of the Northwest which finds its way across the sea is known as Duluth hard wheat. A board of trade at Superior would find itself handicapped by the prior existence of the Duluth board and while grain men settled there and doing business on its board would find a market for all the wheat they had to ship, and by selling on sample could probably get just as much money for it as the only effect would be to divide the strength of the grain trade at the head of the lakes, and make two small influential boards where there is now one influential and widely recognized one. It would please the Minneapolis men who are jealous of the wheat business here to see it split up between two rival and antagonistic boards, which would nearly always be pulling at cross purposes. The men who handle the grain, and who own the elevators do not want to see such a condition of affairs and the farmers would only lose by it. Looking at it from a business man's view, so far as the actual receipts and shipments of wheat by the elevators located in Superior, are concerned, it will be positive benefit to Superior that the present condition of affairs be maintained.

Of course Superior would feel that her importance was more likely to be recognized, but it is really worth the expense and trouble the city must go to to establish a board, only to find when it is done that the grain interests at the head of the lakes have been divided and injured and the movement is for the benefit of other trade centers? The same amount of money spent on new manufacturing plants will do the city much more direct good, and go just as far in securing the general recognition of Superior as a place of importance. A board of trade will not increase very largely the population of the place. The factories would.

BUSINESS RAPIDLY IMPROVING.

The month of September worked a great change in the financial history of the country. It is now nearly a year since the world-wide panic occurred which resulted in a depression which has been quite general and has lasted up to within a few weeks. Indeed, it would probably have lasted considerably longer in this country had our crops not proved so bountiful at a time when they were in great demand. For the month of September Duluth's bank clearings were $12,072,038, as against $9,509,697 one year ago, $5,487,416 two years ago and $2,646,591 three years ago. In other words, Duluth's banking business during the September just past has been one-third better than in any previous September. The clearings for the nine months just ended were $73,474,181, as against $75,758,485 last year, $62,684,799 two years ago and $72,591,385 three years ago. By the end of the year the record of 1891 will undoubtedly surpass that of every previous year of Duluth's wonderful history.

How about other cities? Last month's record at Omaha is $4,100,000 less than one year ago. At St. Joseph it is $500,000 less. Nashville $1,300,000. Port Worth $3,000,000. Chattanooga $1,000,000. Louisville $4,300,000. Denver $3,000,000. Cleveland and Detroit $9,000,000. Tacoma $600,000. Seattle $1,500,000 and Salt Lake City $1,700,000 less. Galveston, St. Paul, Los Angeles, Richmond, Baltimore, St. Louis, Kansas City, Grand Rapids, Indianapolis, Columbus, Cincinnati, Buffalo and Portland, Ore. show fair increases, while Chicago, Minneapolis and New York in common with Duluth, show very large increases, due chiefly in the cases of Minneapolis and Chicago to the handling of grain and in that of New York to grain, to increased speculation in stocks and to a general revival of business. In Milwaukee, New Orleans, Washington, San Francisco, Wilmington and Memphis the situation last month was about the same as one year ago. Philadelphia has largely fallen off, probably to a great extent on account of the troubles to which her banks have been subjected. Pittsburgh has also fallen off several millions, because of the slowness of the iron trade.

Only thirty-one out of fifty-six cities show gains for the first nine months of the year. Yet the showing is not a bad one when all things are taken into consideration, and who will say that Duluth isn't holding up her end through the struggle in excellent form?

For the fiscal year just closed, Superior has spent $1,333,270 for running the city government and making improvements. Of the total $428,209 were consumed in running the city, and $905,061 in road and sewer building. Of the $428,209 used in running the government, the fire department took $37,000, the police $22,000, the street and engineering departments $60,000, and the general fund $182,209. This was an average per capita expense of $28.60, estimating an average of 15,000 people during the year. Of the improvement fund, which was a per capita tax of $60.34, $490,000 went to streets, sidewalks and so forth, and the rest to sewers. The estimate for running the city government for the coming year is $265,050, of which $101,000 is to be raised by taxation. This makes a pretty expensive government.

The "tin plate liar" is a personage said to be very active in the Ohio campaign this fall. Just which party he belongs to is a matter of serious dispute between the adherents of the respected gubernatorial candidates. The present of a box of one hundred of bright American tin plate by the United States Iron and Tin Plate Manufacturing company, of Delaware, Pa. to Governor Campbell might be taken as a gentle hint on their part that he was to be classed as one of the aforesaid t. p. l's.

The steamer Iron King, which has been aground at the entrance to Superior harbor since Friday, was floated this morning. The expense of the little escapade, including tug bills, lighterage, delays, etc., cannot fall short of $5000. This will probably fall on the insurance company covering the vessel.

Mr. Fassett, of New York, is said to be as good a speechmaker as Mr. Harrison, of the United States, and that is saying a good deal. Mr. Fassett is making a strong canvas of the Empire state and the chances for his election appear to be good. Mr. Flower's coat of arms, exhibited everywhere by him, is not aiding in the good old Jeffersonian fight.

The Chicago News says Japan will send a number of dancing girls to the World's fair, as well as many pretty girls to decorate fans, etc., for a consideration. They will carry on an extensive trade.

Smile Till Rainbows Span It. (West Duluth Son.)

If the world seems cold to you, Kindle fires to warm it. Let their comfort hide from view the flames that inform it.

Hearts as frozen as your own, To that radiance gather; You will soon forget to mourn.

"Oh! the cheerless weather!" If the world's a wilderness, To build homes in it. Will it help your loneliness On the winds to din it?

Raise a hut, however slight, Weeds and branches gather, And to roof and meat invite, Some forlorn brother.

If the world's a vale of tears, Smile till rainbows span it. Breathe the love that life endears, Clear of clouds to fan it.

Of your gladness lend a gleam Unto souls that shiver, Show them how dark sorrow's stream Glows with love's bright river.

SEEN AND HEARD.

"The first time I saw the steamer Winslow," said Judge Ensign, "she was coming into port with a party of newspaper men, nearly all of whom were then or have since become well-known in various capacities to the whole country. It was away back in 1871, just before the canal had been completed. The gentlemen had come out here at the solicitation of Jay Cooke and their destination was the Red River valley, of which the world was but beginning to hear and which was practically an unknown region. On their way to the valley they stopped but a short while and there was no unusual stir over their presence. Among them were Joe Hawley, of the Hartford Courant, for many years past United States senator from Connecticut; one of the Harpers, today full of cares connected with one of the largest publishing businesses in the world; Evans, of the New York World; Bayard Taylor; Cross, of the Chicago Tribune, since then governor of Illinois, and an artist named Martin. A little later Taylor, Evans and Martin returned and whiled away a couple of weeks very pleasantly in our midst, bringing to us glowing pictures of what they had seen in the Red River valley."

The Chicago post of Saturday has an entertaining item regarding a person who until recently was clerk at the Spalding house. It says: "The tragedienne Bernhardt will reach Chicago tomorrow and an entire parlor floor at the Richelieu hotel has been reserved for the divine Sarah. A very decided hint that the great actress was nearing Chicago was given this morning in a ludicrous incident, of which Clerk John Drummond, of the Richelieu, was the victim. Some Mr. Drummond came on duty this morning there came a violent ring at the telephone and an inquiry for Mr. Drummond. The man at the other end of the phone was the agent for a local express company. He yelled through the phone, 'I've got some snakes at this office for Mrs. Bernhardt. What will I do with them?' Mr. Drummond thought the man at the other end said grapes and he replied: 'Why, send 'em up here and I'll put 'em on ice and keep them until Miss Bernhardt arrives.'"

"'Put 'em on ice,' yelled the express agent. 'Why, you demnation idiot, what do you want to put 'em on ice for? They'd freeze to death.'"

The telephone girl at the central came to the rescue and took off a card that had crossed the one leading to the hotel, and then Mr. Drummond learned that the grapes were snakes or rather adders. They were ordered brought to the hotel and were assigned to a room with a bath on the parlor floor next to the apartments that are to be used by Mrs. Bernhardt. The reptiles are for the play of 'Cleopatra,' where the queen is stung by an adder.

Anent North Dakota Grades. The New York Rail Road Gazette, in speaking of the proposed attempt to establish a special market for Dakota grades of wheat, says: "The inspection is a needless thing, for the grain sold in Duluth or Minneapolis according to the grades there, regardless of the findings of the home officers. There may be a real grievance, but the proposed remedy is absurd."

This Endorses The Herald. Homeopathic Envy: The power of the patent medicine man over the "great dailies" was clearly shown last month. Stripped to the bones the affair amounted to this: Some one delivered an "address" out West. In that address he "denounced" these druggists who try to get that great gull, the public in need of advertised nostrums and drug nastiness, to buy "our own" advertised rather than some one else. Shortly after the "address" blue penciled copies of the "great dailies" from North, South, East and West, began to be showered over all the land. Each blue pencil mark called attention to an editorial or heavily headed article, in which the indignation was expressed at the attempted "substitution" by druggists and here would follow a list of the most notorious patent medicines, among them some which have been condemned time and again by chemists as being simply murderers. It is bad enough to have vulgar "medical" advertisements thrust in your face day after day, but when your favorite paper lets them into its editorial or news departments it becomes disgusting.

Cram's Atlas Publications. The chamber of commerce is to furnish the publishers of Cram's atlas a plate of our city, in consideration of which a full-page map of Duluth will be shown in the future editions of this popular atlas. The present edition of the atlas contains maps of 40 of the largest cities of the United States, and the publishers were desirous of showing the cities of the head of the lake and did so on consideration of a plate being furnished them of Duluth and Superior. Cram's atlases are the standard works of the kind in this country and have a sale of over 50,000 copies annually. A new revised edition will be published about Nov. 1, showing Duluth. Our citizens should all order a copy of this valuable work.
